

Budget Bill Gets Approval Of Legislature

Action Speeded to Let It Go Into Effect on July 1

Madison —P— Both houses of the legislature gave prompt approval today to the important state budget bill, calling for an outlay of $330 million in the next two years.

The senate acted first, by a vote of 33-0. The assembly followed, 86-5.

The lawmakers authorized the executive office to sign a typewritten copy of the measure so it can take effect by July 1, when the next biennium begins.

Oppose Passage

Five Republican assemblymen voted against passage without announcing why. They were William Merriam, Janesville; Elmer Nitschke, Beaver Dam; J. D. Peterson, La Crosse; and Floyd Shertoff and Harvey Abraham of Oshkosh.

Senate passage was preceded by a few brief remarks by William Draheim, R-Neenah, and Henry Maier, Milwaukee, Democratic floor leader.

Draheim, senate finance committee chairman, said that the long delay on passage of a budget bill could have been avoided if the Democratic party had recognized the need for a "true" 2-year budget.

Draheim placed special emphasis on a $15½ million surplus he said the Democratic administration would "inherit" from its Republican predecessor.

Maier said he wanted to make clear that he regarded the first-year figures in the budget as the only "solid" appropriation and that the second-year requests still are subject to change at the fall session of the legislature.

Housing Bill Gets Senate's Approval

House Due to Act Late Today; Budget Director Favors Veto

Washington —P— Maurice H. Stans, director of the budget bureau, said today he would recommend that President Eisenhower veto the $1,375,000,000 compromise housing bill.

The senate passed the measure yesterday. The house is scheduled to act this afternoon; approval there would send it to the president. Stans was asked about a possible veto of the measure at a meeting of the senate finance committee on the corporation and excise tax extension bill.

The budget head said Eisenhower never commits himself in advance on this question, but added, "I would recommend a veto."

Assails Measure Norman Mason, the top federal housing administrator, criticized the bill sharply yesterday, indicating he also would urge that the president not sign it. Mason said the bill would cost too much and is not in the interest of most Americans.

The 56-31 senate vote was

Suspect Held As Extortion Effort Fails

South Bend, Ind. —P— An extortion attempt against a young South Bend bank executive was snapped yesterday by FBI agents and South Bend police after a grim game of hide-and-seek through downtown streets.

Banker Paul B. Lamar, 28, chased around South Bend following directions on a series of notes scattered throughout the city in treasure hunt fashion. Close behind were the FBI agents and city police.

"It was just like a movie," Lamar exclaimed after it was all over. He and his children were threatened if the instructions were not followed.

The end came when Julius C. Dierickx, 35, a South Bend investment counselor, was arrested in the area where a $10,000 payoff was to be made.

Lamar's final instructions were to leave a paper bag containing the money in his car and park the auto on a specified downtown street.

Lamar parked the car and left the bag, which contained old newspapers instead of cash. He got out of the car, as instructed, and walked out of sight.

Dierickx was charged with extortion and jailed under $25,000 bond.

Strike Idles Steel Plant

Furnaces Shut Down in Dispute Over Incentive Pay

Pittsburgh —P— A strike by 12,000 production workers brought near capacity operations to a halt late last night at the Pittsburgh works of Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation.

The plant's big battery of open hearth furnaces had been closed down 24 hours earlier by a labor dispute over incentive pay rates in that department. Picketing by open hearth workers brought production to a standstill.

Officials of J & L, the nation's fourth largest steel producing firm, said the open hearth dispute was a violation of the contract.

John Murray, director of United Steelworkers Dist. 16, which includes workers at J & L's Pittsburgh works, charged the company violated the contract by cutting incentive rates without notifying the union.

The big plant, located on both sides of the Monongahela river, has an annual ingot capacity of 3,300,000 tons of steel.

Labor Racketeer Wins Reversal

New York —P— John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi, labor racketeer serving 15 to 30 years for extortion, today won a reversal of his conviction.

The appellate division of the state supreme court voted 4 to 1 to set aside the conviction and sentence.

The division also reversed the conviction and sentence of John J. McNamara, a teamsters union official.

Dio and McNamara had been accused of extorting $4,700 from two corporations and three executives in return for labor peace.

Nehru Told Red Regime Must End

Trivandrum, India —P— Two leaders of major factions seeking the resignation of the communist government of Kerala state told Prime Minister Nehru today they are going to continue the struggle.

The two leaders are socialist party chief Pattom Thanu Pillai and Mannathu Padmanabhan, who heads an alliance of Hindus called Nairs and the state's 3½ million Christians.

Padmanabhan's group says the state government's education law would communize the schools.

7 Die in Hotel Fire

6 or 7 Missing After Norse Resort Burns

Stalheim, Norway —P— said "I ran out and saw the fire raged before dawn today through the Stalheim resort hotel in which 130 Americans were staying. Seven bodies were found and six or seven persons were missing some hours after the blaze, a police spokesman said.

About 35 persons were injured, either by the flames or by jumping from the windows of the hotel.

The police spokesman said the missing persons may not have perished in the flames.

Guests Scattered "The guests are now spread over a huge area," he said. "The situation is confused. It may take some time to clear it up."

Other guests in the hotel included 12 British, 4 Swedes and some Norwegians.

The 99-room hotel was reduced to ashes in two hours although all nearby communities sent firemen to help against the flames.

The seven dead were not immediately identified. They were believed to have been guests since hotel employees live in another building. One woman burned to death in her room. At least one patron perished jumping from a window, police said.

The fire was discovered at about 2 a.m. by Harris Caldwell of Georgia.

Six State Senators Oppose Menominee 'Independence'

Ask Congress to Repeal Act Which Brings Federal Control to Close

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison —P— Carefully agreed to the termination act in the first instance, that they were denied a hearing which they asked in the congress, and that their assent for the record was gained through "artifice."

Six influential state senators won permission of their colleagues to introduce a resolution to ask congress to repeal the 1953 act which provided for termination of federal government responsibility for the welfare of the tribe at the end of 1960.

Serious Doubts

The resolution, given its authorship, is a signal that the senate has serious doubts about the package of Menominee legislation now before the legislature which is intended to make effective the federal termination act, including one bill to set up a separate Menominee county.

The senate resolution drafted by Sen. W. F. Trinke of Lake Geneva, chairman of a senate committee which is holding up some of the Indian bills, complained that the Indians did not voluntarily

Holding 5 Guards as Hostages

Springfield, Mo. —P— Rioting psychiatric patients seized five guards and took over a wing of the U. S. medical center here last night and an official said he feared it was part of a plan to escape the prison.

Sheriff Glenn Hendrix of Greene county said information from inside the prison indicated the convicts were trying to break through the wall on the northwest corner of the "10 North" building.

Guards, state troopers, Springfield policemen and special guards from the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., formed three separate tight rings around the "10 North" wing of the federal prison system's general hospital today. The unit is known as the "country club" because it resembles one from the outside.

Can't Get Inside

Sheriff Hendrix said none of the prison authorities could get inside the building to actually "see what was happening." He said they heard terrific pounding and sent men around the walls to see if they could detect exactly where a break through was trying to be made.

"The walls are about 36 inches thick and I just don't believe they've got the equipment to get through," the sheriff said.

Hendrix said it was his understanding the riot was led by "six or seven" convicts and that one of them, who is serving a 20-year sentence, was considered desperate.

Wrist Watch Found in Stomach Of Large Shark

Los Angeles —P— Two dozen sharks were spotted in recent days off southern California beaches. In the stomach of one, fishermen said they made a chilling discovery: A man's wrist watch.

They said they found it in the second of three stomach cavities of a 121-foot white shark shot last night in the 22-mile channel between Catalina island and southern California. Attempts are being made to identify it.

The shark fishermen said they couldn't determine how long the watch had been inside the shark. It was reportedly badly eaten by stomach acid.

Robert Pamperin was killed June 14 by a shark at La Jolla, 85 miles south of here where the shark was killed last night. His attacker was at first identified as a white shark — but then, later, marine experts decided it had been a requiem shark which attacked Pamperin.

Rifleman of the vessel Comanche spotted a school of about a score of sharks yesterday and killed the 121-foot-er, biggest among them. White sharks are known to be man-killers.

School Board Buys Truck, Okays Phones

High School Will Get More Service For $109 a Year

A new truck costing $2,915 was purchased and a new high school telephone system costing $109.05 more annually was approved by the board of education Monday night.

The truck is a 4-wheel drive to be purchased from the Baur Truck and Equipment company, low bidder. The high school telephone system will be completely overhauled, the board decided. The high school has seven lines, but each of the lines services a single phone or a single group of phones.

It is impossible for the deans or the principals to use their telephones without the possibility of someone listening.

Will Have 4 Lines

The new system will retain four lines. Three of them will be hooked to nearly all of the telephones, enabling one person to use three different lines, without danger of eavesdropping.

The fourth line will be shared by the boiler room, cafeteria, home arts room and two phone booths.

All phones with the three lines will be connected by an intercommunication system of numbers which can be dialed within the school.

Blacktop Contract

The board awarded a $30,578.05 contract for blacktopping to Badger Highway company for jobs at James Madison school, $15,671.40; McKinley school, $4,455; Roosevelt school, $715.50; Jackson school, $1,370.25; Washington school, $5,265; High school, $3,214.90; Wilson school, $640; and Foster school, $145.

The board decided to have two trees removed and the areas around them blacktopped. A box elder at Washington school and a dead soft maple at McKinley will be removed. Three other soft maples at McKinley originally scheduled for destruction will be saved.

Withhold Diplomas if Tuition Unpaid, Attorney Tells Schools

Appleton schools have a legal right to withhold diplomas or grades from students whose parents have not paid their tuition if the parents have signed an agreement to pay tuition, City Atty. Don L. Jury told the board of education in a letter.

Jury answered a question raised by a mother, Mrs. Robert J. Schultz, formerly of 937 W. Frances street, now of Manawa. Her son Tom was told by Principal H. H. Helble that he would not graduate if his parents did not pay a $76.59 tuition bill.

Mrs. Schultz had told the board that she thought the board's tuition policy was ridiculous and that school officials had handled her problem tactlessly. She and her husband left Appleton April 1, leaving Tom behind to attend school. They refused to pay tuition for the remaining period.

Jury told the board: "In my opinion the school can hold the diplomas, grades or transcripts for the non-payment of tuition, towel or locker fees or book rentals. You cannot withhold the

ACLU Reverses Stand, Endorses Democratic Practices in Unions

Washington —P— Reversing a 7-year stand, the American Civil Liberties union has given limited endorsement to a bill to assure democratic practices in labor unions.

The ACLU long has supported self-regulation by unions. It changed its stand, it said, because many union constitutions do not protect the worker's rights to freedom of speech, press and assembly.

"Self-regulation alone cannot adequately protect the democratic rights of members within unions," the ACLU statement said. The comment was prepared for the house labor committee, which is considering labor regulation bills.

But government intervention "is a necessary evil," it said, and should be tried out only on a limited scale until and unless more drastic steps are indicated.

State Chamber of Commerce Executives Honor Flanagan

Calumet County School Superintendent Has Compiled Noteworthy Service Record

Chilton — The first plaque to be awarded in recognition of service to a past president of the Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce executives was presented to Francis J. "Pat" Flanagan at the association's convention last week at Lake Delton.

Flanagan, who held the office in 1957-58, is the only part-time chamber of commerce secretary ever elected president of the W. C. C. E.

The same year he served as president of the Wisconsin County Superintendents of Schools' association.

Man of the Year — Continuous secretary of the Chilton chamber since its reorganization in 1946, he was named one of the city's men of the year in 1956.

The ver-atile Flanagan, often referred to as the "Mr. Secretary" of the Chilton area, will complete 26 years as Calumet county superintendent of schools July 1.

F. J. Flanagan

Born on a farm near Manawa, he graduated from eighth grade when he was 11 years old. He took a couple years vacation, and decided he needed more formal schooling.

He completed high school in three years, graduating from Manawa High school at 16—in the same class with Clarence Sturm, who next week will be installed president of Lions International. He enrolled at Oshkosh State Teachers college "wrestled wishes" for his meals during the school year and worked the county fair circuit with a milk bottle concession during the first summer.

Fair Concessionaire — Later a concessionaire in his own right, he abandoned the fair and set up his milk bottle game at Waupaca county dance halls. Frequently hitting as many as five or six dance nights a week, the milk bottle game proved to be good business — enough to cover the college expense tab.

Graduated from Oshkosh at 20, he taught history and was in charge of the speech and dramatics department at Brillion High school for the next three years.

At 23, he was elected Calumet county superintendent of schools — the youngest man to gain that office in the history of the state.

Reorganized System — Secretary of the county school committee, by statute, he has worked with the county unit assisting the local districts in implementing a complete reorganization in the Wisconsin district superintendency system during the last 15 years.

Under the reorganization the education committee of the state chamber of commerce for the last seven years has been altered from 72 to 16. One-room schools have been reduced from 67 to nine. Two state graded schools have been added to the county system. The Harrison school, completed four years ago, now serves an area formerly held in six and a half districts. The Forest of Dimes During World War

II he was secretary of the attached districts, was completed two years ago. Five high school districts with grades below, are also in operation.

Flanagan was elected vice-president of the Wisconsin County Superintendents of Schools association in 1940; he has been chairman of its legislative committee for several of the local Sportsman's club terms; and has served as for several terms.

He was secretary of the Northeastern. He was secretary of the tion when the movement began about eight years ago.

He has been a member of the education committee of the state chamber of commerce for the last seven years.

He was district governor of Lions in 1942-43 and is still an international councillor for the service club.

In Calumet county, he was first president of the Presidents' Birthday ball fund—the forerunner of the March he was secretary of the first fund drive—which was supplemented the U. S. O. The county fund was set up before the state organization was formed, and Calumet was the first county to meet its fund quota. He has been secretary of the county agricultural committee for 25 years, secretary of the local Sportsman's club and continued as secretary of the Calumet Memorial hospital board until last year. He is also secretary of the Children Area Development corporation — which has been cited in the state for its progressive program.

He was also Grand Knight for Calumet Council 2556, Knights of Columbus for two years.

Beyond his long record of activity in community affairs, Pat Flanagan, and his wife, Margaret, have performed a more personal service to the city.

For more than two decades they have been a kind of informal welcoming-committee of two for newcomers, and they continue to extend that welcome until the "newcomers" have become "old timers."

The back door at Flanagan's house, on North Madison street, seems never to be locked, nor the kitchen light turned off — like a symbol of hospitality, common of an earlier generation, not often found today.

Let Pet Dog Get Used to Rides in Car

Caring for pets at vacation time is a widespread problem says the American Humane association, since four of every 10 American homes have at least one pet.

Many travelers find that it's more fun for the "family" to remain together and they take their dogs vacationing. Your local humane society or a veterinarian can supply you with a published list of the many hotels and motels which will accommodate pets. If you're taking Fido along, remember that excitement and nervousness can cause car-sickness. Let the dog get used to the car on short trips around town before you start your trip.

Pack a bag for the dog which includes dishes for food and water, a supply of his favorite food, his blanket and a few toys. Also, be sure to have a good leash and collar with your name and address securely attached.

When traveling, feed the dog a little less than usual, and don't feed until you have stopped for the night. Make enough stops during the day to keep your dog happy and give him a chance to exercise.

Public Business Should be in Public

The report from Madison is that both Republicans and Democrats in the Senate are ready to move on the adoption of a bill requiring all meetings of state and local governing and administrative bodies to be held in public.

This bill has been the subject of some political bickering between the principal political parties for many years and all that may as well be forgotten now if the senators will get together and promptly adopt the measure.

At a recent hearing of the Senate committee no one appeared to oppose the measure and spokesmen for both political parties indicated that the bill would be adopted soon. Since it is a part of Gov. Nelson's legislative program it may be assumed that he will sign it if it is finally adopted.

Sen. LaFave of Oconto, while not objecting to the bill, indicated some reservations about its effectiveness. He suggested that the requirement of open sessions for local governmental agencies might result in unofficial meetings and "doing business at dinner parties." The practices Sen. LaFave suggests are, of course, possibilities but they cannot be regarded as posing serious objections to the bill. Such devious ways of conducting business are widely practiced now and probably always will be. It is to be expected that members of a committee or a board will get together in two or three or possibly even with a majority of the board present and discuss projects to be taken up or those which have been handled in the past. The results of these conversations may be felt at future meetings but it is, of course, utterly impossible to prevent them and we are not sure that it would be desirable to do so.

However, if the proposed bill proves ineffective there are some things that the legislature can do about it. Gov. William Quinn of Hawaii has just signed a bill passed by the Hawaiian legislature which opens the meetings and the records of the territory (soon to be a state) and its counties to public examination. An interesting provision of the Hawaiian law is that no governmental agency may take final action on any ordinance, ruling, regulation, contract, appointment or decision in an executive session. It also requires a two-thirds vote of a governmental board to go into executive session. Furthermore it provides that the minutes of executive sessions may be kept secret only so long as their publication would defeat the lawful purpose of the executive session but no longer.

The proposed Wisconsin law lists a number of activities which may be handled by governmental bodies in secret. They are: deliberating after judicial or quasi-judicial trial or hearing; personnel matters; probation, parole, crime detection and prevention; deliberations on public business which for competitive or bargaining reasons require closed sessions, or on the purchase of public property or investment of public funds or legal conferences. This list appears to indicate, for the first time, the purposes for which executive sessions may be held. There may be difficulty in interpreting the meaning of some of the items listed but it is still important that the law set out a policy which is generally that public business should be conducted in public.

Radiation—The Great Mystery

If the public is confused about the effects of radiation no one should be surprised. The public must depend on scientists for this information and the scientists have been disagreeing among themselves so sharply that no one really knows what the facts are.

It is generally understood that radiation is dangerous. The effects of radiation following the bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki have been carefully observed over the years. Since those cities were the first and only ones to suffer atomic bombings they offer the best examples available. However, there have been many changes in nuclear weapons since those cities were destroyed and the first impressions of the dangers of radiation have undergone severe changes since.

There is, of course, a vast difference in the concentration of radiation at such points as Nagasaki or Hiroshima and the wide distribution of radiation across the world from the experimental explosion of nuclear bombs far from human habitation.

In the wide distribution of nuclear fallout, scientists are interested in the possible effects of radiation which may accumulate over a long period of time. In this connection Strontium 90 often is mentioned as an element that retains radiation and lives a long time. Thus it tends to build up more of an accumulation than other elements which may be carrying radiation.

In recent months we have been assured over and over again by spokesmen for the Atomic Energy commission and by independent scientists that the amount of radiation now existing in the world is a comparatively small amount and quite harmless. However, Dr. Crawford F. Sams of the University of California recently told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that small amounts of radiation may actually lengthen human life rather than shorten it. He said, "I am ashamed that some scientists have assumed that all radiation is bad. We have become so concerned with the effects of high radiation we have overlooked the facts." He reinforces his statement with reports on experiments in which rats exposed to low level radiation lived 30 per cent longer than most other rats. It is thought, of course, that radiation would have a similar effect on other living things including human beings.

The confusing aspects to the layman of the reports on the effects of radiation may be expected to go on for some time. The fact is that such reports merely indicate that we are learning more every day about radiation and with this subject as with all others when we learn more we change our minds about them. Things that were terrifying to the people of the world 100 years ago are no longer terrifying because they are better understood. The same very probably will be true about radiation and it will not be too surprising if this thing we fear today as a deadly killer may be recognized within a few decades as a thing of value to all of us.

'There Isn't Any More'

"Me beaten? I won't have it. Never beaten! It's been a great game. A great game!"

Ethel Barrymore, the 101-year-old grandmother in Whispering, said that in 1938 just before her "death" in the play. Ethel Barrymore, the almost 80-year-old first lady of the American theater, might have said that with even more truth just before she died Thursday.

She wavered once, in 1937, when she decided she had had enough of the stage, and announced her intention to retire. But she quickly changed her mind and vowed to go on acting "until I drop in my grave."

She was duchess, princess, queen and empress, charwoman, cook and cockney mother on the stage, in the movies and on radio, in America and England. This was part of her heritage for her actor ancestors had linked the two countries in the theater long before she was born.

Yet she was forced to turn to the stage at the age of 15, for she had to earn her own living. Her own ambition was to become a musician and she showed ability as a pianist. Her natural talent for the stage developed easily and at 21 she was a star. At middle age she was the outstanding American actress in a career that progressed from farce and comedy, to serious roles and tragedy. Occasionally, she appeared with her brothers Lionel and John, and she once called these her happiest days in the theater.

Her final curtain has gone down, as it did once when she had a role in the production Sweeney. It was then that she delivered her famous line: "That's all there is, there isn't any more."

'Summertime When the Livin' Is Easy...'

Summer in Wisconsin is a varied sort of season. There are soft breezes from starry skies, the pleasure of diving into a cool lake, thrills in boating and hooking a 4-pound black bass, water skiing, watching a favorite slug another home run, vacations, picnics, camping or lying in a hammock with a can of beer. There is more romance under a summer sky, more relaxation just sitting on the front porch, more flowers to smell and pick, fewer clothes to wear, more parties and more fun.

Summer is also golf tees in the washing machine, marbles and jacks on the stairs, wet bathing suits in the bathtub and fish hooks in fingers. It's poison ivy rash and sunburn, mosquitoes and buzz flies in the bedroom, the busy lawnmower, weeds, gardens, berries to pick, more clothes to iron, more kids underfoot.

Summer depends upon one's point of view.

"How did that stop him?" asked the puzzled neighbor.

Feels Appleton Industries Not Given Proper Consideration

Editor, Post-Crescent:

A great furor would arise if one of our larger industries announced that they were moving outside the city or leaving the state.

Note, what is happening in LaCrosse. The Auto Lite Co., is moving outside Wisconsin. 1,400 employees are out of work. In Kenosha the Simmons Co., is moving its operations to other states; it employed more than 6,000 people at one time. In Milwaukee the Phoenix Hosiery factory moved outside the state. It employed more than 3,500 at one time.

True, we are trying to induce and persuade new industries to settle in the Fox Cities area. It is very commendable. I propose in addition that we do everything possible to help and promote our local industries. Most of which were started by hard labor from scratch. The tenacious work and vision of the founders made their ultimate success possible.

Today they are among our largest taxpayers and the hundreds of home owner employees are citizens and taxpayers.

Only recently two of these fine factories (yes, they too both started from scratch right here in Appleton) wishing to expand asked the city and school board for the right to purchase adjoining property. What answer did they get? Up to date only objections — no thought on the part of city officials or school board to give a helping hand. Who are these little people who would ston the growth and progress of our industries and our city? Why all the rush to set up a park next to the fence of an industrial plant and along side of a road that carries 90 per cent heavy truck traffic when this same effort would be logical along the river at North Green Bay street park site? Here is where the late Geo. F. Peabody wanted landscaping done.

Without these great factories our city would soon wither and die. Remember this — other cities would give much to have one or both of these fine factories come to their town. It has happened in other cities of our state, it can happen in Appleton. No I'm not a stockholder in either factory.

A Thinking Taxpayer
Appleton

This spring an Arizona school system refused to let its students participate in an essay contest on the value of free enterprise on the grounds that the subject was "controversial."

No wonder a distressing number of Americans who became prisoners of the Chinese Reds during the Korean war were hurried into a state of great confusion of the communist brainwashers. Indeed, some may have come out of American school systems that had put very little in their brains that the Reds needed to wash out.

Why should a school system that lives off the fruits of a free economy be apologetic for that economy? Why should it be neutral between free enterprise, socialism and communism? Did the left-wing orientation of many of our teachers' colleges back in the '30s create among many teachers and principals a mental condition in which they are unable or unwilling to sell America to young Americans?

You can't resist something with nothing. If our schools ever hide the fact that America's people's capitalism has brought more good things to more people than any other system on earth on the grounds that praise for this system is "controversial" how can we equip the new generation with the information necessary to resist communist faiaeces?

It would be odd to have the freedom of the world's most powerful nation pass away because its schools were unwilling or afraid to explain the genius of freedom.

Firemen to Celebrate July 4

79 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of June 26, 1880

Mr. Albert Kreiss informs us that it is the intention of the Appleton Fire Department to celebrate the Fourth of July at Pierce's Park with a picnic.

The details are in the hands of the committee to be worked up into a success. Wickbold's Juvenile Band will furnish the music. A grand ball will be held Monday night at Turner's Hall.

Mr. C. Heinz is engaged in building a new truck for the Hook and Ladder Company recently organized. He and Chief Kreiss visited Milwaukee last week for the purpose of examining apparatus there. This truck will prove a valuable aid to our fire department.

Six members of First Baptist church left for Janesville where they were to attend the annual convention of Wisconsin Baptists. They were the Rev. Ernest Hasselblad, pastor, Mrs. G. V. Payant, Mrs. P. F. Stallman, Miss Ida Payant, Miss Mildred Eads and Shetland Noyes.

Jacob L. Wolf was named chairman of the park board, succeeding Charles S. Boyd, who served as chairman for the past three years.

Robert Basson, Jr., Appleton, won third prize in a national airplane building contest, conducted by the Comet Model Airplane company of Chicago.

Two Appleton bankers, M. D. Smiley, vice president of the First National bank and the First Trust company, and B. J. Zuehlke, president of the Appleton State Bank, were attending the annual convention of the Wisconsin Bankers' association at Milwaukee.

Mrs. T. M. Gilbert, Neenah, won first prize in the nine hole handicap tournament for ladies' day at North Shore Country club. Mrs. Arthur Snell, Neenah, won second place.

Gov. Nelson Dislikes Preferential Primary

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Madison — Gov. Nelson has joined those Democrats who have confessed their doubts that the Wisconsin preferential primary law as it now operates serves any useful purpose.

But his suggestions for modification come so late as to make them academic. There is no serious chance that this legislature will tamper with the existing system of choosing and binding Wisconsin delegates to national nominating conventions, and of course, it is the legislature now sitting that must authorize any changes that would be effective for the 1960 spring delegate elections and presidential popularity polls.

Since he is first of all a practical politician, it is somewhat surprising that the governor should have waited so long to reflect upon the problems of his state party in the primaries next spring, and to come to a conclusion about what should be done about it.

the delegates are pledged to a candidate who wins here — in a field that is not necessarily complete and in a poll thereupon not necessarily significant — and who may not actually be in the serious competition when the convention opens. Thus the chances are that Wisconsin delegations, of both parties, are often left out in the cold, ignored, impotent and insignificant — as were the Wisconsin Democratic delegates in 1952, for example, when Nelson was the delegation chairman.

NELSON'S OBJECTIONS

The governor has rather broadly hinted that he would not be displeased if the legislature got up one morning and threw out the preferential primary law altogether. He has sometimes seemed to regard yearningly the precedent of the Minnesota legislature, which did precisely that this year, in a bipartisan action.

But that isn't going to happen here — while there is a watchful Republican minority on the scene that doesn't mind seeing the Democrats worry about their problem of selecting delegates to their national convention next spring.

The governor made two suggestions when he discussed his feelings about the present law with statehouse reporters the other day.

There might be some merit in a system that arbitrarily puts on the Wisconsin presidential popularity ballot any candidate who has been seriously mentioned for the presidency — his own wishes notwithstanding, as he sees it.

Thus the Wisconsin delegates sent to a convention would have some guide to the preferences of their voters at home.

But what the governor is really looking for is a system that will permit an uncommitted delegation, even as the leaders of the state Democratic party organization want a free delegation.

The problem is that under the present Wisconsin law

GOP INDIFFERENCE

These considerations are probably worth discussion for their academic value and because sooner or later they will be recognized by the practical politicians of both parties and reckoned with.

But for the moment they have little relation to the practical possibilities.

Not only are the anxious supporters of those presidential hopefuls who are planning to enter here suspicious of such maneuvers, but the Republicans find the problem doesn't apply to them, as far as they can see. Vice President Richard Nixon is already such an overwhelming favorite of the Wisconsin Republican organization that about the only thing that remains to be done is for his agents to get together with the party leaders to organize his delegate slate.

It is the Democrats who find their cumbersome primary machinery inconvenient and impracticable. In that fact some of the critics of public affairs who remember the half century of propaganda in favor of popular primaries may find ironic satisfaction.

Congressmen Would Allay Fallout Fear

From The Scranton, Pa., Times

Competent Washington observers are predicting that at least one favorable result can be expected from the flood of conflicting testimony presented at the recent stormy congressional hearings on the perils of atomic fallout. The joint atomic energy subcommittee is certain to demand that future atomic energy commission statements on radiation hazards be made more understandable.

The subcommittee of the Congressmen, Chet Holifield (D., Cal.) is chairman, is sifting material submitted by scientists. It hopes to obtain a clearer picture of the physiological and genetic effects of fallout, as well as a rough idea of the possible devastation wrought by nuclear warfare. No exact formula for permissible exposure to strontium 90 was established but the AEC's general advisory committee offered reassurance about the present measured level of radiation.

Committee members are fully aware of the public's fear of fallout from nuclear bomb tests. The possibility of bone cancer, the greatest apprehension. Legislators, in order to dispel both unreasoning fears and complacency, are prepared to insist that the AEC remove the veil of secrecy from as much data as possible and curn the information it releases in terms the average man can understand. That in itself would be a significant victory for the public, which has been subjected to far too much misleading information on the question of atomic fallout dangers arising from tests.

Next 3 Weeks' Decisions Can Bring on War

Appeasement Today Could be Dangerous As It Was in 1938

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — If there is a war in the not far distant future — and it doesn't have to be a nuclear war either — decisions made in the next three weeks can bring it on. The three weeks before the foreign ministers conference is resumed can be crucial. Mistaken attitudes of appeasement could prove more dangerous today than similar policies appeared to be at the time of the 1938 "summit" conference at Munich which preceded by a year the outbreak of World War II.

Few persons, generally speaking, realize the gravity of the situation. They look at the outward signs of peace and view with indifference the negotiations that have been going on for six weeks at Geneva between the east and west. Why should there be war, they ask, when negotiations take more than mere words? Then comes the usual argument about British labor party in England, a nuclear war would be and how both sides in the United States would be devastated. Most people dismiss the subject as academic.

War Can Come

What is not considered is a non-nuclear war can come as readily today as it did in Europe in 1939 or in Korea in 1950. It can come again as a result of the same kind of bluffing tactics which are being engaged in today. Sooner or later someone takes a chance and assumes the other fellow will not fight. Then war comes. In three major instances in this century it has been based on a miscalculation of the strength and possible reaction of the democracies of the west to an act of aggression.

Why should Moscow miscalculate? For one thing the west gives the appearance of an appeasing mood and its disunity and of military unpreparedness. The west is strong enough to fight a nuclear war but the Soviets may have their doubts whether when the chips are down, any nuclear weapons would be used by either side. Military men of the west have built their entire defense plan on the theory atomic bombs would certainly be used. But just as both sides refrained from using poison gas in the last war so it is possible that because of world opinion nuclear weapons would be abandoned.

Not Convinced
What would be the main basis, however, for the Soviet miscalculation that could bring on a war? The Geneva conference for one thing has not convinced the Soviet government the allies are united. There is a strong belief in Moscow Britain will not stand with America and France on a platform of resolute resistance. The Soviets already have misconstrued British Prime Minister Macmillan's eagerness to negotiate as a sign of weakness or timidity. Again and again press reports in the west have

25-Year Class Of Kimberly to Stage Reunion

Kimberly — Graduates of 1934 from Kimberly High school will observe their twenty-fifth anniversary with a reunion at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Kaukauna Elks club rooms.

A general get together and street, Kaukauna. Klein is serving as general chairman assisted by Mrs. Genrose Verstegen, Norbert Gossens, Cletus Dietzler, Mrs. Wilbert Courchaine and Mrs. Arthur W. Wildenberg. A social will be held from 4 to 6:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Klein, 301 W. Seventeenth.

The men in the Kremlin could make no greater mistake than to assume that Britain at the showdown stage will fail her allies or will adopt a weaker position toward the Soviet union than do the other partners in the western alliance.

Big Problem
But the big problem of the moment is to make clear to the world that the western and east countries are united. It will be war, they ask, when negotiations take more than mere words? Then comes the usual argument about British labor party in England, a nuclear war would be and how both sides in the United States would be devastated. Most people dismiss the subject as academic.

De Gaulle in Italy to Help Celebration

Mark Battles in Which France Aided Fight for Union

Milan, Italy — French President de Gaulle arrived today for the 100th anniversary celebration of two battles in which France helped put Italy on the road to independence and union.

Italian President Giovanni Gronchi and a 101-gun salute greeted the French chief of state at the Milan airport.

Today and tomorrow de Gaulle and Gronchi will visit the battlefields of Solferino, San Martino and Magenta. They will go on to Rome and on Saturday, the day before de Gaulle's return to Paris, he will be received by Pope John XXIII.

Warn of Sabotage

The two presidents had intended to fly to Rome. But an anonymous tipster telephoned Milan police that a sabotage attempt would be made during the flight. A train trip was arranged instead. Italian police were already nervous because of the presence in Italy of 7,500 North Africans, most of whom oppose the French campaign against the nationalist rebellion in Algeria.

The battlefield visits will be staged with full pomp and ceremony pointing up the importance Italians attach to the anniversary.

In Magenta, windows and buildings were decked with flags to welcome de Gaulle. Thousands of villagers had paper banners to wave at the arrival of the French president.

Floods Rage In Red China Canton Area

Tokyo — Red China warned the millions of Chinese living in the Canton area of Kwangtung province that raging flood crests on the swollen North and West rivers will strike there tomorrow.

The communists already have said the floods in Kwangtung may be the worst of the century. The damage is expected to deal a sharp blow to red economic hopes this year.

An army of several million blue-clad peasants, led by communist party secretaries and soldiers worked around the clock in the driving rain to meet the danger posed by the two heavy river crests.

Three major rivers, the North West and East come together in the Canton region. They flow into the South China sea through the Pearl river estuary. The fertile delta made up of the accumulated silt of the rivers gives the province three crops a year.

All three rivers, and the Pearl as well, have been turned into angry torrents by heavy downpours which began nearly two weeks ago. The West river has already flooded its valley, inflicting damage to some 247,000 acres of rich rice land. One third of the crops were seriously damaged.

Widow of Road Victim Hurt In Car Crash

Marathon county police said Mrs. LaVerne Gehrt, 29, route 3, Clintonville, was going south when her car and one turning north from Highway 153, driven by Leonard Charneski, 34, route 2, Mosinee, collided.

Mrs. Gehrt received cuts and bruises, her sons, Loren, 4, and Roderick, 2, were bruised and her mother Mrs. Berntha Nech, 50, route 3, Clintonville, received neck injuries.

Mrs. Gehrt's husband was killed on Thanksgiving day last year in a Winnebago county accident.

were spaced only 20 feet apart to guard against the possibility of a break.

The officers made no move toward the wing Dr. Russell O. Settle, warden of the center, ordered his staff to avoid provoking the rioters.

Demand for Food

At 6:30 a.m., the inmates in "10 North" called the warden's office and demanded that carts of food and coffee be sent to the wing. Before anyone in the warden's office could reply, the caller hung up the telephone.

The "10 North" wing is a prison-type building with barred doors and windows and individual cells. It is divided into three wards, each housing about a third of the 106 inmates. Homosexuals were in one ward, "young aggressives" were in the second ward, and "older aggressives" were in the third. All are neuro-psychiatric patients and they are among the most dangerous of the hospital's 1,046 inmates.

Rioters Not Named

Of the center's inmate population, 259 are trustys. About 60 per cent of the 767 patients suffer mental illnesses. None of the rioters has been identified by the warden.

One inmate was seen holding a knife to the back of a hostage. A rioter told the center's control room by telephone:

"Don't try to come in here or your men will get hurt."

Another inmate said in a second call, "We mean business."

Questioned by Settle on what started the riot, the man said:

"We have our demands almost ready but we will call you."

That was at 10:20 last night and nothing has been heard from the prisoners. There has been no sound at all from the wing. There also are no lights. The prisoners smashed the lights when the uprising began.

Only one newsman, City Editor Jim Billings of the Springfield Daily News, was allowed inside the center.

Finds No Rioting

"There is no rioting in the general sense—no shouting and all that," Billings reported this morning.

He said officials were "sitting around, sweating out" the riot and added, "there is not much anyone can do except sweat."

"The trouble is, we don't know what these 106 men want," said Billings. "We don't even know what triggered this seizure of the wing."

The 100-foot-long 1-story concrete wing is divided into three cellblocks and is separated from the rest of the center by a barred door.

First indication of the riot came when a guard peered through that door in a routine check just before "lights out."

The guard told Dr. Settle he saw inmates milling in the down his fever and he may long corridor. The five guards in the wing were stripped to their shorts. Some inmates were wearing the officers' uniforms. An inmate was

Starkweather Still Hoping For Review

Lincoln, Neb. — Mass killer Charles Starkweather is still hopeful he will get a review of his case in the courts.

The 20-year-old killer was convicted in the slaying of Robert Jensen, 17, Bennet, Neb. Jensen was one of 11 persons Starkweather has admitted slaying.

Starkweather contends he did not have a fair trial in that he was not properly represented by his two court-appointed attorneys. He asked the U.S. Supreme court to grant a review of the case. The court denied the application without comment yesterday.

When told of the decision Starkweather said only that he still had hope. Then he returned to his oil painting of a snow scene.

Albert J. Ahearn, Jr., one of the two Washington attorneys who filed the supreme court application, said he will ask the court to modify its order to state that its denial was without prejudice to renewal of the constitutional issues in the Nebraska state courts.

Nebraska Atty. Gen. C. S. Beck said that when he gets a copy of the order he will ask the state supreme court to set an execution date. It will be the fifth death date for Starkweather.

Carl Ann Fugate, 16, was convicted and sentenced to life as an accomplice of Starkweather in the Jensen slaying. She, too, is appealing and now has applications before the state supreme court for a new trial.

Urge Repeal of U. S. Indian Law

Fave, Oconto, and O'Brien, Green Bay.

One senate leader Monday said that termination legislation, without which the federal act cannot become effective, now appears difficult to pass.

The Trinke resolution was referred to its own committee where it can be expected that it will get a recommendation for adoption.

Show Skepticism

Last week the powerful assembly judiciary committee also showed skepticism about the Indian legislation and assigned a subcommittee to study some of the questions raised by members. Legislation counsel employed by the Indians to push their bill are reportedly pessimistic about the outlook.

The Trinke resolution was blunt in its expression of doubt about the justification for the act of congress four years ago—since hailed as a landmark measure containing the promise of emancipation of other American Indian tribes.

"He doesn't talk much because he is so weak," his daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, said.

had apparently recovered but then suffered a relapse. He has been under an oxygen tent most of the time for several days.

The hostages are William L. Fitch, Leonard Appleby, Melvin G. Jung, Robert B. Rosenthal and Charles R. Allen, all of Springfield.

Some lights were smashed and there was other destruction in the wing, Dr. Settle said.

As soon as escape routes through the main door and the steelbarred windows were blocked, the staff settled down to waiting.

The medical center is a general hospital for the government's prison system.

Its population has included some of the nation's most notorious criminals, including Al Capone and other gang leaders of the 30s.

Leaders of the tribe and a state Menominee Indian study commission have repeatedly declared that the enabling legislation is written with absolute safeguards against the economic exploitation of the tribe.

(Gov. Nelson and others have expressed interest in the possibility of creating a public park out of a part of the big Menominee Indian reservation, but such plans have been discarded because of the high cost of the land purchase from the tribe. The value of the Indian lands has been variously estimated, with a minimum of about $35,000,000.)

The resolution demanded that federal supervision be continued "indefinitely"

Tragedy in Rome

The Hotel Stalheim, the oldest sections of which date back to 1912, was insured for three million kroner ($940,000).

It was the second fire in 48 hours to wreck a European hotel crowded with Americans. The 5-floor Ambasciatori (Ambassadors) hotel, on Rome's famed Via Veneto caught fire early Sunday.

Three maids who jumped or fell from the top story were killed.

Mrs. B. Marrer of Los Angeles was among the Americans injured.

Her husband said they had arrived last night by bus with of champagne and seven bottles of Scotch whisky. And for the morning after, the thief took a pound of coffee ists arrived at the hotel last night.

"We went early to bed and asked to be called at 6:15," Marrer said. "We did not know anything before the fire alarm screamed. We lived on the second floor. I opened the door, and smoke and flames struck at us. I slammed the door."

"There was no fire escape or rope. We made a rope out of bed clothes and I let my wife out and went after her. My wife injured her back. I don't know where the rest of our group are. We lost everything — passports, luggage, even our clothes."

"But the people here have been extremely nice to us and done everything they can."

Evenresses reported a scene of panic as the desperate guests jumped from windows and ambulances and fire trucks roared in on the narrow mountain roads. The hotel director said his men tried to calm the guests but without results.

Let Banks Pay Family Bills, Executive Says

Dallas — Let the bank pay the family's monthly bills and everybody will benefit, a Dallas advertising executive, E. B. Andrews, says.

Writing in the American Banker, a trade publication, Andrews proposes having the customer send all his charge account bills to the bank. The bank would handle the accounts in one of two ways.

Under the first plan, the customer would authorize the bank to pay bills as they come in, up to a preset limit.

Under the second plan, the bank would send the customer a list of all bills at the end of the month. The customer would return with list with a notation of how much he wanted paid on each account.

Andrews said the plans would cut the number of checks written by the average family from 25 to 5 or 6 per month. Businesses, he said, would benefit through the elimination of thousands of bills, envelopes, payment notations and individual deposits.

He termed the plan the first

Colored Cord, Twine Make Simple, Sturdy Knot-Belts

BY CAPPE, DICK

Here's how to make a stout, attractive belt simply by tying knots in smooth twine or colored cotton cord.

First find an old belt buckle. Next, get four pieces of cord or twine, each eight feet long. Double each piece so it makes two strands each four feet long. Fasten each cord to the buckle crossbar with a girth hitch as in Figure 1. The hitch is made by passing the loop end of the string over the bar and drawing the two free ends through it.

Tie a knot in each pair of strands as close to the bar as possible. This is done by twisting the pair of strings around your first finger, pulling the free ends through the resulting loop and drawing them into a tight knot (Fig. 2). Do this with each of the four pairs, making four knots in a straight row parallel to the crossbar.

You are now ready to tie the knots that will make the first row; in other words, finished belt as in Figure 3. The first pair of strings are Make a row of three knots tied together, the second pair about one-fourth inch below the first row of four. In doing the next row, consist of three untied. The knot at the left in the second row end of the row is made by tying together the second string of the first pair and then three, then four, etc. — the first string of the second until the belt is long enough pair. The next knot is made for you. End it by tying all by tying the second string of eight strands together, in one the second pair and the first big knot to slip through the strip of the third pair. The buckle.

Here's how to tie the knots.

the second string of the third pair and the first string of the fourth pair. Four knots are made in the next row which is a quarter inch from the preceding row. Tie together the same strings that made the knots in the first row; in other words, finished belt as in Figure 3. The first pair of strings are Make a row of three knots tied together, the second pair about one-fourth inch below the first row of four. In doing the next row, consist of three untied. Report Boost In Welfare Medical Costs

Relief Clients Get
Three Times More
Aid in Past Decade

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — The high and increasing cost of medical care for public relief recipients is pin-pointed in a special study of the state department of public welfare.

The proportion of medical expenditures in the total public assistance budget of Wisconsin has tripled during the last decade and now amounts to more than a third of the total relief outlays.

Medical Care
The annual rate of medical care disbursement for persons receiving old age assistance, aid to dependent children and other categorical forms of aid is now about $19,000,000 for the state.

The department noted that there will be a continuing rise in the expenditures for medical care because of the pre-dominance of persons who are too old or too ill to work on the public assistance rolls.

Major Factors
"From this study it was shown that the increase in the number of recipients in nursing homes and institutions, the increasing cost of such care, and the sharp increase in hospitalization and drug costs are major factors responsible for the continually rising trend of public assistance medical and health care expenditures.

The rising costs of all other types of health care services and increased utilization of services are also contributing to the trend," the report of the agency added.

Surgery for Ruptured Discs Intricate, but Successful

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am plagued with two ruptured discs. My doctor says I need an operation. I hear from different sources that this operation isn't very successful. Any information will be appreciated.—Mrs. S. P.

Dr. Molner

I'm certainly not in sympathy with resorting to surgery every time disc trouble is suspected. When the condition has been thoroughly studied, and an operation is known to be the only reasonable solution, that's another matter.

Most I ask what these sources were for the information that the operation isn't very successful? True, it is intricate surgery. True, also, that it doesn't give you a brand new spine. But at the cost of some stiffness in the area requiring correction, it gives you a strong back again, and puts an end to the pain.

If it were my back, I'd rather have the trouble corrected. I wonder why some know-it-alls suddenly become trouble-makers and bearers of gloomy predictions when somebody needs a certain type of operation. It's a cruel thing to do, don't you think?

Hypnosis Not Magic

Dear Dr. Molner: What do you think of hypnosis for your drunks? I have a son who is driving us all crazy.—I. W.

Hypnosis is a tool. It is not magic. It is not a "quick way out" when a problem exists in coin to cover handling. Hypnosis, in the hands of an expert (since it is a complicated psychiatric tool) might help discover the pressures which compel someone to drink. I dare say.

But expecting hypnosis to make the whole thing easy—one day he is under compulsion to drink and the next day he suddenly realizes that he enjoys sobriety more—is not to be expected. Hypnosis, I suspect, will become more useful in the future, but not if people think it has magic properties.

Tonsils Grow Again

"Dear Dr. Molner: Our daughter, 11, has sore throats with fever from early fall to late spring. She had her tonsils removed at 5, but now they are growing back again. I would like your opinion on having tonsils removed for the second time.—Mrs. M. Y."

Tonsil tissue, if some is left, does enlarge, or "grow again" to some extent. Likewise, it is neither unusual practice nor wise to try to remove all the tonsil tissue. There can be no guarantee that the remaining tissue will—or won't—become infected later. When it does become inflamed and troublesome, the considerations for a second removal are just what they were for the first one. Do it if the tissue is swollen, infected and continues to be harmful.

Afflicted with arthritis? You may find relief if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "Don't Quit Because of Arthritis." To receive your copy, write to me for it in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents out in coin to cover handling. (Copyright, 1959)

Rocket Ship Most Modern Plaything

The most modern piece of playground equipment—which may even replace the jungle gym—is a rocket ship.

And the one in the backyard of the Earl Kralovec home, 1809 N. Locust street, fast became a favorite with children—the day it was finished, 10 of them managed to get inside it at once.

The 15-foot high rocket is built in three sections with a plywood platform between the two larger sections and ladders inside and out.

It was built by Kralovec from paper cores for concrete columns and painted aluminum with red trim during about two weeks of spare time.

The six Kralovec children and others in the neighborhood have already put an "instrument panel" on the inside of the rocket ship, Kralovec said.

Schools Keep WIAA Insurance, Board Says

Declines Parent's Request for Change After Hearing Official Explain Coverage Limits

Appleton public schools will some cases, Roberts explained Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association insurance despite a protest from a parent and a request that another kind of accident insurance be purchased.

The board of education decided Monday night that "you get what you pay for," and that the insurance generally did a good job. The insurance costs 75 cents per pupil for one year and affords limited coverage, especially covering injuries costing less than $25.

J. E. Roberts, Stevens Point, executive secretary of the association insurance plan, said that the parent's complaint that payment was slow was doubtless because of a delay in processing the claim.

Blames Doctors
Doctors, he said, frequently keep claims for months before returning them to the insurance office. Since all claims must be allowed by the board of directors which meets once a month, payment is delayed significantly in some cases.

Clause Called Unfair
Mrs. Myrl N. Davis, vice president of the board, said that this clause is unfair. "How do you justify penalizing parents who have other kinds of insurance?" she asked. People with other kinds of insurance actually pay the premium for those who carry only WIAA on their children.

Roberts answered that if the other insurance clause were removed, rates would rise. As it is, he said, the company loses about $20,000 yearly, which is made up from high school tournament receipts. Out of 443 high schools in the state, 430 carry WIAA insurance, he said.

During the last school year, Appleton sent in 219 claims on the company, he said. A total of 116 were paid in full, and there are still 60 claims waiting to be processed from the last months of school, he said.

Larger Claims Suffer
"Your smaller claims will be paid in full," Roberts added. "Your larger ones will not."

Supt. of Schools John P. Mann said the complaint about the insurance was the first that he had encountered. The insurance payment is not compulsory, he explained, but because most students pay it, the school receives enough insurance money to subscribe for every student in the system.

Complete subscription is required, based on the previous year's enrollment figures. Since Appleton has more students in school every year than the preceding year, the standing, property owners system takes in enough money to be assessed for the year, the committee who do not pay, Mann explained.

Director of Public Works Duszynski reported that the assessments charged against abutting property owners covered only the widening, not any surfacing. He said he understood surfacing would come later.

In view of the misunderstanding, property owners should not be assessed for the year, the committee who do not pay, Mann explained.

Try to Buy Trucks Again

Street Committee Splits Awards With Two Low-Bid Dealers

The city council's street and sanitation committee Monday decided to try again to buy four trucks costing about $13,000.

Committeemen said they will ask the council to buy two trucks from each of the two low bidders—Baur Truck and Equipment, Inc., and Fox Valley Truck Service.

Earlier, they agreed to ask the council to buy all four trucks from Baur, but Chairman Roy Pointer had the recommendation referred back to committee before it came to a vote on the council floor.

He said at that time there again was a question of the low bidder meeting city specifications, a general statement that has applied to wrangles over truck purchases for the last two years.

V-8 Engines
The charge usually is that the low bidder built up his truck to meet the city's specification of standard gross vehicle weight thereby giving the city a lighter truck than it wanted. No charge was spelled out in committee this time.

The four trucks which the city is seeking are all 21,000-pound GVW trucks with V-8 engines. Four old city trucks will be given in trade.

One dump truck with an 8-foot-long body and special mounting, would be used by the mason crew. Another, with a refuse body would be used by the sanitation department. The other two, with 10-foot-long bodies, would be used by the street department.

All of the trucks would double in snow plow work in winter.

Committeemen said they may select the truck they want next time and simply buy it rather than taking bids. They said they are not required to take bids by law.

The action seems the only way to avoid arguments, they said, since certain specifications, notably GVW and type of engine, can exclude some dealers.

"Yes," said one committeemen, "and if it isn't that, it's something else."

Two of the trucks will have so-called "cab forward" front seats. The different type of model will give the city a chance to test claims of savings in storage space for trucks, of greater turning ease in snow plowing and better visibility for drivers, it was said.

$40,000 U. S. Grant For Small Business Research in State

Madison — P. Wisconsin's Division of Industrial and Port Development has been awarded a $40,000 federal grant for research in financial growth of small business in the state.

David Carley, state division director, said Monday he was informed of the grant by Wendell B. Barnes, head of the small business administration.

Carley said the research will be an extension of a project begun in 1951 by a University of Wisconsin team.

The original study covered some 700 non-affiliated corporations in Wisconsin manufacturing during the period between 1945 and the start of the Korean war.

The extended research would bring the project up to date.

Carley said the aim of the project is supply data needed to make the diversion and the university more able to cope with small business financing and management needs.

Name Mrs. McIntyre To Education Group

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Mrs. Gordon McIntyre of Appleton, new member of the board of regents of state colleges, has been appointed to the education committee of the board. She was named a regent a month ago by Gov. Gaylord Nelson.

Harold O. Schroeder, 1703 Highland avenue, a cost analyst at the Fox River Tractor company, was named the employee member of the Vocational school board of education Monday night. He was appointed by the Appleton Board of Education. Before World War II, Schroeder worked as a machinist. While a prisoner of war, he froze his feet and since then has become a cost analyst. He is an officer in his company credit union. He replaces Richard Hinz, Appleton labor leader who died in March.

Franklin C. Jesse, member of the board of education for six years, attended his last meeting Monday night, and went out in a blaze of chuckles.

After hearing the customary congratulatory messages from Mrs. Myrl N. Davis and Supt. of Schools John P. Mann, Jesse sat quietly, even when Mrs. Davis thanked him for being "fun" on the board.

But he began feeling his oats during the discussion about prohibiting adults and high school students from playing ball on the Edison school grounds, because they frequently hit baseballs into neighboring yards. He suggested a sign be posted saying, "Adults, Please Bunt."

Then, when the board was discussing removing trees at McKinley and Washington schools, Jesse quipped, "It looks as if we're getting rid of a lot of dead wood tonight."

Everything was there but thunder and a haunted house. It was late, 11:05 p.m., in the press box at Goodland field during the Fox Cities Foxes only night doubleheader of the year when a mysterious knocking was heard on the press box door. One of the officials peered out into the gloom to see a 5-year-old youth with a questioning look.

"Is Bob Franke here?" the child inquired. Foxes Business Manager Bob Willis came over. "If Bob Franke's here," the boy said, "he better come down under the grandstand right away." Then he melted into the night.

Baseball officials were still wondering about this five minutes later when another knock came. This time it was a little girl.

"Did a little boy come up here asking for Bob Franke? If he did, forget it."

Then she disappeared into the grandstands, leaving behind a group of puzzled men.

Opening lead: Deuce of spades.
To those bridge players who adhere rigidly to the accepted bidding standards, the suggested bidding on this hand will make me as welcome as ants at a picnic. Please don't pass judgment on me until I have had my say — perhaps many may even be nice enough to agree with me.

Why should South forego a good 5-card spade suit and bid one club instead? Let's assume that South does bid one spade. Is it not reasonable to assume that the response by North will be one no trump?

Yes, it is reasonable (I'll answer for those who are trying to figure it out). If North does respond with one no trump then South must normally and naturally rebid three no trump. What's wrong with that? Nothing except that the hand is being played from the wrong side. A heart lead will doom three no trump before declarer can get warmed up.

Intelligent bidding calls for anticipatory responses. When it is almost a cinch that partner may make a bid which will get the play on the wrong side of the table, it is essential that certain distortions in the bidding occur, on occasion. It may mean concealing a good 5-card suit on occasion or it may even mean missing a game in a major suit contract but in a vast majority of cases, it will mean success to your final contract.

Yes, it is apparent that if East had the ace of hearts, three no trump would be as easy for North as for South but there is no point to gamble that possibility. If, by some chance, North has a good hand where a slam is possible, then North will certainly make a constructive bid over two no trump and then South can show his spade suit. If North is not interested in slam, then the spade suit being concealed is an asset. Matter of fact, West led a spade.

Mary Carla Runte Guest of Honor At Bridal Parties

A whirl of pre-nuptial events has occupied Miss Mary Carla Runte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Runte, 921 Wilson street, Kaukauna, during recent weeks. Numerous friends and relatives have entertained for the young woman, who will be wed to Donald J. Bossert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bossert, Wisconsin Rapids, in 10:30 a.m. services Saturday at Holy Cross Catholic church.

This last week preceding her wedding has been especially busy for the young woman, beginning with a breakfast and recipe shower Friday morning at the home of Mrs. J. C. Stillman, 218 N. Drew street.

Couples' Cook Out
Sunday, relatives gathered at the home of the future bridegroom's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Willett, Stevens Point. A couples' cook out has been planned Thursday evening, with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Conrad to entertain Miss Runte and her fiancé at the Conrad home, 135 Taylor street, Kaukauna. Two parties are scheduled Friday, with a luncheon for the bride and bridesmaids at 1 p.m. at Lamers Tea Room, Little Chute, by the bride-to-be's grandmother, Mrs. H. T. Runte, 217 E. Doty street, Kaukauna. Friday night, Mr. Bossert's parents will entertain at a 7 p.m. rehearsal dinner for the bride party at Ridge Point Supper club, Wrightstown.

Earlier June parties began June 2 when Mrs. Carl N. Nagen, Combined Locks, entertained at a powder room shower. Mrs. Robert Wood, Green Bay, was assistant hostess. Mrs. Alois Bachhuber, 253 W. Wisconsin avenue, Kaukauna, held a breakfast and recipe shower June 3, aided by her three daughters, Mary, Anne and Sue.

BDM Luncheon

Out-of-town guests included the future bride's mother-in-law, Mrs. Bossert, and Mrs. William Diebels, Wisconsin Rapids.

Mrs. Ruth Wolf, 911 Wilson street, Kaukauna, entertained at a dessert and miscellaneous shower for neighborhood friends June 10. A tea and a "round-the-clock" shower was given June 12 by Mrs. Ethel Deloria and her daughter, Suzanne, at their home, 318 W. Ninth street, Kaukauna.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mereness, 127 E. Second street, Kaukauna, entertained at a 7 p.m. dinner and silver shower June 13.

Picnic Shower
During May, Miss Runte was honored at a dessert, bridge and miscellaneous shower May 23 at the home of Mrs. Aaron Ritchey, Wisconsin Rapids, who was assisted by Mrs. Eugene Kunk.

A picnic surprise shower was held May 20 by Kappa Delta sorority sisters of the bride-elect, who co-entertained with members of the Nicolet Grade school, Kaukauna, teaching staff. Miss Runte served as a kindergarten teacher at Nicolet during the past year.

Shower guests gathered at the Kappa Delta sorority room at Colman hall, Lawrence campus. Hostesses were Miss Mary Leitch, Green Lake, and Miss Sharon Jacobson, Kaukauna, co-staff members at Nicolet school, and three Lawrence June graduates, the Misses Barbara Miller, Grace Langendorf and Helen Grosnick.

Beginning the series of showers was a supper April 15 when Kappa Delta Mothers club held a buffet supper and kitchen shower for Miss Runte and the former Nancy Heaton of Appleton. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Adrian Godschalk, 223 N. Green Bay road, with Mrs. Harold Miller, Appleton, serving as assistant hostess. Miss Heaton was wed to John Belling in May 9 rites.

Sea Shell origin Of Silver Spoon
Do you know the origin of your sterling silver spoon? It is based on the first implement man used for eating. The sea shell. That's where it gets its round bowl.

Men have not improved on this basic shape of the first spoon provided by nature. Its second drastic stage was the wooden spoon. The son of each family carved and polished a set of spoons for his own bride and for his future children.

The word itself originally was "spoon," an old Anglo-Saxon word meaning "splinter" or "chip."

Your Problems

Ann Reverses Decision—Says Hungry Boyfriend IS Moocher

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN: I usually agree with your advice but the other day you made me furious.

I refer to the fellow who always managed to turn up at his fiancée's house at mealtime. In addition to this he felt free to snack on anything in the ice-box. The Ann Landers girl's mother complained to the daughter and wound up in the dog-house.

You told the mother she was wrong to criticize the fellow. You said people who suffered early poverty sometimes have trouble being generous with food. You suggested "in the interests of family harmony to try to overcome the pattern established in early life."

Have you gone out of your mind, Ann Landers? Today you simply can't feed an extra person regularly for nothing. Hasn't this jerk got a home? And what about plain good manners? He must be a pig to come for meals every night then snack whenever he feels like it.

I almost fell through the floor when I read your advice. It didn't sound like you. Are you on vacation?—DISAPPOINTED responsible for every word of advice that appears in this column—52 weeks a year. When I go on vacation the work is done in advance. Your letter was one of a great many protests. Many readers felt that I goofed. And, after reading the criticism, I'm inclined to agree with them.

Perhaps it's because I was taught early never to be "tight" with food. We always joked about Mama's table being made of rubber—the way it could be stretched.

Upon re-evaluation of the original letter and careful examination of multiple beets from readers, I agree the fellow DOES sound like a bit of a moocher and his fiancée should tell him he's over-doing the do-it-yourself hospitality bit. Will you settle for 20 lashes with the wet noodle?—ANNIE

Dear Ann: Our 16-year-old girl friend just got her driver's license. We don't know how she passed the test. She drives like a maniac, doesn't know anything about traffic rules and doesn't even know what some of the dash-board gadgets are for. The only thing she knows for sure is how to start the car and turn on the radio.

Last week she headed into a one-way street when she shouldn't have. If anyone had been coming toward us it would be sheer curtains.

She's a swell girl and a true friend, but we're afraid to get into a car with her. How can we let her know without hurting her feelings? Please reply soon or we may not be alive to read your reply. — TERRIFIED TEENS

Dear Teens: Here feelings are not as important as YOUR lives. And this may be your choice. Tell her she's a fine friend but a menace on the street and refuse to ride with her until she learns how to handle an automobile.

Spouses, U. S. Eating Habits Topics for Home Economists

Homemaker Now Has Freedom

Home economists have been instrumental in developing the quick mixes, labor saving equipment and new freedom from work for the homemaker. The jet age of planes and space ships belongs to men. The jet age of home economics belongs to Mrs. Collins.

The secret of spouse-keeping is to keep the husband first. First in mind, first in intentions, first in love and devotion. It is not easy for most women because marriage doesn't mean a love nest for two with no distractions. It is especially difficult for the woman with a career and a husband. Tell her how good this premise is basic to a husband's peace and happiness. How largely she can live at home not how quickly spouse-keeping—home husband can get out of it.

Tell her how good this premise is basic to a husband's peace and happiness. How largely she can live at home not how quickly spouse-keeping—home husband can get out of it.

Home economists in business last week got pertinent pre-convention ideas before the American Home Economists association which begins today in Milwaukee. Mrs. Katy Collins, author of a syndicated column on "spouse-keeping" spoke on her specialty and the homemaker's obligation to this field, and Franklin J. Lundberg, food company executive, explained the status of food in today's standard of living.

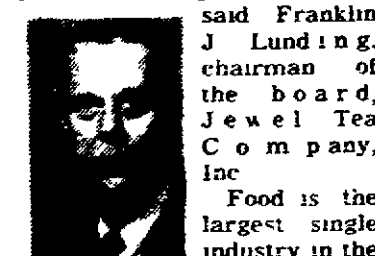

band, and children—a woman's task differs from her task in past years. She can serve a meal with frozen and pre-packaged food within minutes. She has labor saving equipment and no longer does many of the things, such as weaving the family's clothing which were done in the home years ago. What is she doing with the time she has saved?

A simplified portrait of today's housewife would show a woman who is lonely, who operates a household of mechanical helpers with experience out without satisfaction and who usually feels she must look outside the home to find creativity.

Home economists have simplified women's lives. It should now be a challenge to marriage doesn't mean a love nest for two with no distractions. It is especially difficult for the woman with a career and a husband. Tell her how good this premise is basic to a husband's peace and happiness. How largely she can live at home not how quickly spouse-keeping—home husband can get out of it.

U. S. Food Standards Have Risen

Food standards of living have increased more than 40 per cent since pre-war levels.

Food is the largest single industry in the country today, according to Lundberg. Consumer expenditures on food totaled over $69 billion last year, or more than 25 per cent more than the total expenditure on housing, automobiles and all other consumer durable goods combined.

In pre-war years consumers spent 23 per cent of income for food. Today Americans can buy the same foods in the same quantities at today's prices for 15 1/2 per cent of their income. Yet actually 40 per cent more than is necessary is spent to maintain pre-war diet standards.

Why have we decided to raise our food standards of living to this level, Lundberg asked.

One reason is that we now spend less on such items as flour, cereal products, potatoes and dried beans. Even fresh fruits and vegetable purchases are down almost 20 per cent.

Another reason is that we have increased our consumption of meat which is up 24 per cent from pre-war. One outstanding shift explains these shifts in dietary habits, he said. Items for which consumption has declined are associated with low incomes, are high in calories or take considerable kitchen preparation.

The fact that we are buying more expensive foods is evidence that incomes have risen. Consumers evidently want to buy the best for their families.

Lettuce is a good example of product improvement. It is now grown to specifications and the handling is carefully controlled so that lettuce consumption has increased from about 13 pounds per capita before the war to over 20 pounds today.

Interest in Nutrition. These facts on food consumption indicate that consumers are more interested in nutritious foods than are not too high in calories today and that we are ready to step up our quality and variety of foods as long as these foods yield more satisfying meals for our families and still save dollars in the kitchen.

All of this leads to two basic factors affecting our demand for food today: we consume about 3,150 calories per day; as compared with 3,500 per day in 1909.

Secondly there is the diet factor. We are a diet-conscious nation today. We watch our calorie consumption both from the beauty angle and for health reasons.

According to Dr. Leo J. Shapiro of Chicago who conducted a study of Chicago women food shoppers, Lundberg pointed out women have three basic concerns as they tackle food shopping for the family. There are those who are 1) Work-oriented those Actress Dorothy Dandridge and Jack Denison, night club owner, are on a New York honeymoon after their nuptials Monday at the Greek Orthodox cathedral of St. Sophia, Hollywood. It is the second marriage for both the Negro star, 36 and Denison, 46-year-old Caucasian. The couple will attend the premiere Wednesday in New York of "Porgy and Bess" a musical in which Miss Dandridge stars. The Very Rev. Leonidas C. Contos shakes hands with Denison after performing the couple's marriage.

W. J. Houfeks Celebrate 50th Date of Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Houfeks, Manitowoc, are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary today with all day festivities.

Agenda opened this morning with a 9:30 a.m. mass at St. Theresa Catholic church. With Houfeks grandchildren forming an honor guard. A breakfast was held later at the Hotel Appleton and a picnic has been scheduled at 3:30 p.m. at Ero park. Friends have been invited to attend the picnic.

The couple was wed June 23, 1909 at St. Boniface Catholic church, Manitowoc, with Mrs. Houfeks being the former Eleanor Lonsdorf, a native of Manitowoc. Her husband was born in Kewaunee.

The Houfeks have resided in Appleton since 1932. He is semi-retired, continuing to serve as a sales representative for the General Office Supply company, Appleton. Formerly Mr. Houfeks owned the Houfeks Shoe company, Manitowoc.

The couple has nine children and 24 grandchildren. Children are Mrs. Robert O'Neil, Mrs. Donald Rattene and Miss Rosemary Houfeks, all of San Francisco, Calif.; and Paul, Almeta, Carl, Lillian, J. Chicago, Ill., L. Ben, Lancaster, Ohio, Raymond, Appleton, Ralph, Evansville, Ind. and William, Neenah, Wis. All are attending today's celebration with the exception of the Mrs. O'Neil and Rattene.

A sister and three brothers of Mrs. Houfeks are also present at the gathering. They are Mrs. Arthur Bleck, Green Bay, John Burnhamwood, William Wausau and Herbert, Chippewa Falls.

Mostly interested in minimizing the effort of food preparation.

2) People-oriented those mainly concerned with pleasing the family.

3) Food-oriented those who cook mostly for the love of it. Effect of Automobile.

The automobile has affected the products women buy today too. The well-stocked market offers 3,000 to 10,000 items in contrast with a maximum of 2,000 items in the pre-war years. All of these can be delivered directly to the customer's auto. Thus the automobile and the supermarket have removed an important physical limitation on the buying of food.

Advertising also has influenced what women buy. Advertising and couponing can induce people to try a product. Whether it will earn a permanent place will be determined by the satisfaction of consumers. Advertising, however, does encourage people to stretch their standards of living for something a little better.

As long as food remains a bargain, Lundberg said, similar rewards will accrue to help the homemaker solve her problem of providing meals that win approval of the family and help relieve her drudgery in food preparation.

Everyone in the food industry—farmers, manufacturers, distributors and those in transportation—have contributed their part to making food such a bargain.

In Good Taste Correction May Lead to Family Feud

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Two weeks ago, my nephew, 9, and his parents came to dinner at my house. I was aghast at his table manners. He kept shoveling food into his mouth as though he were afraid someone might take the plate away from him. Not only did he smear his face but the table as well. His parents made no attempt to correct him. I could not stand it any longer so I corrected him (in a nice way of course) but my sister-in-law seemed resentful over this. When they had gone my husband said that I was wrong to have said anything to the child and that it was not my place to correct him. I did this for the child's own good and I certainly think that as an aunt I was within my rights to correct him. I would like your opinion.

Answer: My own instinct would be to do exactly what you did but I am afraid that a very occasional correction will do the child little good and will risk a family feud between you and his parents. Of course if the child were visiting or staying with you without his parents it would be your right and indeed your duty, to correct him.

Designing Woman

BY ELIZABETH HILLIER

New Variety for Sectional Sofas

New design for sectional upholstered furniture does for it just what it needed most—it breaks the monotony of too much of the same thing. Even the lengthiest of line-ups can look as varied as groupings of separate sofas and chairs when backs have as much variety as they do in the arrangements sketched. The backs of units in this new collection lower to take loose pillows round or rectangular and they taper and dip gracefully before finishing with arms.

Correlated plain, striped and small-patterned fabrics some in solid nylon make it easy to vary the covers on the foam rubber upholstery, and the fabrics contrast strong colors or softly harmonize new pastels. The loose pillows may be plain on one side and patterned on the other for quick changes and seat cushions are reversible. Chairs to use with the sectional units repeat their arm design or take a rounded shape and a loose oval cushion (Scope collection by Karpen, previewed at Chicago's American Furniture Mart).

Painless Exercise

If you have a pile of dishes to do after dinner don't let a blemish on your face. Instead, curl up tall at the sink and whistle while you work. Standing after a meal is an excellent gambit for those who wish to have and hold a trim figure. The explanation is simple. Standing in good posture is in itself an exercise that firms and strengthens the muscles against fatty deposits.

Too standing or moving about in a sedate, fashion gives up some energy, much more than sitting. And the use of energy sparks the fire which burns up those pesky calories.

But please do not think you actually can lose weight by this measure. It is in the nature of a preventative, not a cure. You can prove its effectiveness, however, next time you attend a dinner party. Just observe how the heavy women make a beeline for the sofa after dinner while the slim ones sit about the room.

Midriff Shimmers. To solve that riddle of extra inches around your midriff, send today for my latest, "Midriff Shimmers." It contains quick, easy reducing exercises for slimming diaphragm, waist and abdomen. Write me in care of this use of energy sparks the fire which burns up those pesky calories.

Bringing Up Baby.

4 NIS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 8

Second baby coming your way? That old nag about toddler jealousy, can often be softened if you try this simple idea from another mother.

Before the baby comes, do a little detective browsing for several inexpensive gifts for cherub #1. Give one to him as a homecoming gift. Save the rest to give him each time the new baby gets a gift from a friend. Really works wonders!

Reminder division. Just a few words to remind you that Gerber Cereal Quads—sampler-size boxes of Rice Cereal, Oatmeal, High Protein Cereal and Mixed Cereal—are ideal for introducing cereal to a little beginner. (Perfect way to let him pick his own favorites.) All four are vitamin and mineral-enriched. Each one has its own delicate but distinctive flavor. Thoroughly pre-cooked, of course, and twice tested for digestibility.

Council Gets Task of Determining If Firemen Violate Off-Duty Rule

Commission Asks for Opinion on Scope Of Its Own Powers

The police and fire commission Monday night handed the common council the touchy task of determining if firemen and policemen are violating city regulations governing their off-duty hours.

The commission, in a 3-pronged resolution:

1. Ruled there has been no violation of its own regulation covering such activity.
2. Cited possible violations of rule 54 of the council's own rules and regulations for fire and police personnel pertaining to off-duty employment.
3. Requested an opinion of the city attorney delineating the powers and duties of the commission, particularly in making and enforcing rules and regulations governing personnel of both departments.

Two Complaints

Complaints signed by Joseph Jocheman, secretary of the Appleton chapter of Painting and Decorating Contractors of America, and Harlow Feavel, president of the Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers of America union, were held to be without proper foundation in regard to the commission's regulation adopted in September, 1958.

The painters alleged that three firemen were painting the exterior of an Appleton home in violation of a commission ruling.

The commission ruled, however, that evidence gathered at a June 2 meeting and results of an investigation by Fire Chief Paul Neumann indicated the firemen had not solicited the work. (The rule passed by the commission in 1953 does not prohibit off-duty work, but does prohibit soliciting or bidding for work.)

Council Rule

Rule 54, one of a number of regulations passed by the council last Jan. 7 covering the fire department says, in part, a member must "devote his time and attention to the business of the department when on duty and, when off duty, he is expressly prohibited from following any other calling or being employed in any other business."

The remainder of the rule deals with response to emergency calls to duty.

The commission wants a decision from City Atty. Don Jury regarding its powers and prerogatives to clear the air regarding its authority over personnel of both departments.

What Authority

Discussion indicated the commission feels it has no authority, under state statute, to write and enforce a regulation such as the one passed in 1958. The commission, in previous years, was given to believe it had such authority. it was said.

The third part of the 3-pronged resolution was passed unanimously. The first two, voted upon as a unit, were opposed by one of the five commissioners.

Two Drunken Drivers Fined

Appleton Man Has Accident Monday Night

A Neopit man and an Appleton man, who was involved in an accident, pleaded guilty to charges of drunken driving and their drivers' licenses were revoked for a year.

They are Anthony J. Ponfil, 24, Neopit, and Robert L. Reffke, 21, of 200 E. Calumet street.

Ponfil was fined $100 by Justice George Whalen in Waupaca. He was arrested June 18 by Waupaca police who noted his erratic driving on Royalton street about 1:30 a. m. A blood test indicated .20 per cent alcohol content. A percentage of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Car Rolls Over

Reffke was fined $125 in municipal court this morning. He was arrested by Appleton police Monday after he was involved in an accident at Jackson and Coolidge streets.

He told police that he speeded up to avoid hitting another car. Police said Reffke's car hit the curb and rolled over on its top.

He tested .18 on the drunkometer.

Reffke's cousin Theodore, 19, a passenger in the car, was fined $5 for drunkenness.

its holdings at the hotel, on the north side of Washington street, for customer parking. The remainder of the Appleton street frontage between the new store and Washington street also will be used for parking.

Square Space

Prange's new store will have about 200,000 square feet of space and the Lawrence street warehouse has about 25,000 square feet. The Rio theater now has about 22,000 square feet of space, plus two small shops on either end of the lobby.

City hall records show the Rio lot is 72 3/4 feet by 190 42 feet. The building is in two sections, one 159 by 72 feet and the other, the stage end where the only basement area is situated, 60 by 21 feet.

The theater was constructed in 1929 and had a seating capacity of 1,770. It is built of reinforced concrete, steel and brick.

Board of Appeals Gives Permission For Garage Job

The board of appeals Monday night authorized Martin J. Jooss, 1325 N. Superior street, to construct a concrete block garage a foot from the west and north lot lines of his property.

Jooss had appealed Building Inspector Walter Bogan's refusal to grant a permit for the construction.

Bogan said he could not grant Jooss' request for a permit since Jooss proposed to build closer to his lot line than city ordinance permits. The ordinance, Bogan said, declares that if a building is constructed more than 70 feet beyond the front sidewalk it must be not less than two feet clear of the lot line.

Jooss' lot is so situated, the board of appeals was told, that construction in conformance with ordinance limitations would be impractical.

Municipal Judge Strikes Blow For Diplomacy

The cause of good international relations was served in municipal court today.

Judge Oscar J. Schmiede dismissed charges against Andrew H. S. Lewis, 46, Aberdeen, Scotland, for ignoring a stop sign. Lewis told police that he was a Scottish police commissioner. He was visiting in Chicago and had rented a car for a drive through Wisconsin. He had posted $13.95 bond.

The man was in a position to make things difficult for Americans when he returned home, the judge said, adding that the Scotsman was probably unaware of U. S. traffic regulations.

Bond money will be returned, something that would lighten the heart of any thrifty Scot.

The women posted $35 bond each and the men $15 each for trial Sept. 28.

Four Deny Fighting in Appleton Bar

Four Appleton people in municipal court today denied disorderly conduct charges.

They are Mr and Mrs. George Rosenthal, 1302 E. Fremont street; Elmer Barth, 1919 W. First street, and Joan Pahlke, 1205 E. Fremont street.

Joseph Grishaber, operator of a tavern at 1929 E. John street, said Mrs. Rosenthal hit him in the face Sunday night when he refused to serve drinks to the group. He said Miss Pahlke, Mrs. Rosenthal's sister, threw a bar stool at him.

He said the foursome tried to kick down the door and used obscene language after he evicted them.

The women posted $35 bond each and the men $15 each for trial Sept. 28.

Massacre Legend of Cross Island Intrigues, Baffles Our Columnist

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

During one 2-day period on my recent canoe trip I worked diligently on the ancient mystery of Cross Island but I failed—at least temporarily—to solve it. It has turned out to be one of those challenges, now, and I hope to find the true story before long.

Cross island stands on a branch of the beautiful French river. Legend has it that the island was once a favorite camping site for voyageurs, Indians and missionaries during those days some 300 years ago that the river was being employed as a canoe highway.

Legend has it, too, that nine Jesuit missionaries made camp there at the close of a day—date unknown—and were attacked and massacred by a band of marauding Iroquois. For my story, I wanted facts: not hearsay nor legend. In a pouring rainstorm I made a side trip to the island to see what I could find.

I found an old, weather-worn wooden cross standing on the island. Scratched or carved into it were some figures which were not decipherable. It had been repaired, perhaps more than once, by some thoughtful persons, but clearly it was very old.

Good Camping Place

The legend of the massacre may be given some credence I thought. The island was, indeed, a superb camping place—one of the very best I have seen. A rich growth of sphagnum moss covered much of the island in this area. The sphagnum in such thick growth would make splendid beds for travelers of yore. From the water the island looks tempting and suggests good camping facilities.

Though I found no marks on the island to proclaim it to the passer as a good camp site as was the custom, I think it possible that such symbols could have been worn off by the years between then and now.

I know a small but useful fact which I hoped was unknown to the many generations of persons who have visited Cross island: Persons facing attack by any hostile force almost always hide their treasures—jewelry, money, records and journals. Any such find could have given a note of authenticity to the legend and might also have supplied an approximate date.

With George Rysdale of nearby Camp Meshaw, Ritter, Ontario, I scoured the island which is perhaps 200 yards long by 50 yards wide. There were dozens of nooks and crannies but we found nothing at all except some chips of chert, an indication that an Indian or Indians had once fashioned some arrowheads while they camped there. But we found nothing else to help unravel the tale.

Starts Sleuthing

Rysdale suggested that Clarence Honey on the wondrously beautiful Chalee Bungalow camp, French river, might have some additional facts. In a cold rainstorm, I set out in the "Green Apple" to question Honey. I arrived cold and wet and miserable, but when I confronted the man as a dutiful reporter, he would not talk to me.

"Young man," he said, "You are so cold that you are blue. You're trembling. You're tired. I am not going to tell you one word until I get you into some dry clothes and into a bed for a nap."

And that's the way it was. My extra clothing was soaked and the hospitable Mr. Honey found dry ones for me, then a bed in which I slept profoundly. Next day when I again questioned him on the mystery of Cross island, he admitted he knew nothing of the story except the bare outlines of the legend.

Ideal Fishing Spot

The French river area, so beautiful and bountiful, was an ideal place for "fun fishing." On the entire trip I had fished only for food, with two exceptions—once at Rapides des Jochims (pronounced "Jaw-sno") and once now, at the Chalee Bungalow camp. It was a good day and a dandy catch—my best fish, a 9-pound bass, and two plump walleyes, neither of them under four pounds.

Honey's camp was the most elegant I had encountered. With more than 30 cottages and a beautiful, huge central lodge, I enjoyed my brief stay and rested well. The camp had been built some years ago by the Canadian Pacific railroad and it had been done well, high on a bluff overlooking the magnificent French river. So lovely it was almost awesome, I spent several hours just standin' and watchin'.

I was amazed to find that the camp, though deep in primitive wilderness, has an elegant golf course just a few minutes away by boat. Several times a day a launch departs from the camp to deposit fishermen—golfers on the course. At day's end a launch picks them up and returns them to camp.

Turns Down Puppy

It seemed, for the first time, that I was beginning to reach the portals of civilization. And so I thought I had been without people around me—I found myself talkative. With Honey and his guests I talked. I'm afraid, on and on and on. I spoke of moments of lonesomeness on my voyage and someone offered me a perky little puppy for company. I was sorely tempted to accept the gift for the dog was a dandy. But, alas, he would have eaten more food than I would wish to carry. Besides—I couldn't ask a dog to face the furies of the big waters ahead!

Stock Boom Needs Careful Handling

BY SLIVIA PORTER

The stock market upsurge marking the 30th anniversary of the stock market crash of 1929, set the stage for wicked manipulations and promotions furnished ammunition to radicals for their attacks on the whole American system.

So wrote Herbert Hoover of the legendary stock boom of the late '20s—a boom which collapsed with a roar heard around the world while he was in the White House.

In a few months he will be marking the 30th anniversary of the stock market crash of 1929. Black Thursday, Oct. 24, 1929.

Ownership Spreads

Now once again the stock market is front page news—and not only because prices have been in another sensational upswing.

Today the stock market is front-page news also because for the first time in history stock ownership has become a mass movement among our nation's middle classes.

We do not know how many Americans were involved in the stock market of 1929 but we do know it was a fraction of the 12,490,000 adults who are involved in the stock market of 1959.

In the past four columns I've touched on the highlights of the New York Stock exchange's just-released census of stockholders. Now what are some of the basic implications of the disclosures?

A first implication is that we simply cannot afford another stock market collapse.

Speculation in stocks was relatively limited in 1929. Yet the Wall street debacle of that year, coming on top of what was already a tottering economy, speeded the crash in consumer spending, housing, industrial production and the banking system. The despair in Wall street became a national despair.

Today, with so many millions of ordinary folks involved, it would be hard to exaggerate what a market collapse might do to psychology, to spending, to business in general. It could paralyze our nation. It certainly would cause violent disillusionment in our system.

A second implication is that we must curb lunatic speculation and declare all-out war on stock manipulators.

It isn't enough for the Stock exchange to put on an advertising campaign advising caution on investments and for government financial policing agencies to threaten crackdowns. The fact is the various policing agencies aren't stopping stock market swindles.

The fact is many brokerage firms could obey the rules a lot better than they do. The fact is Wall street could tighten up its self-policing activities. And the fact is that if it doesn't, it will invite the federal government to take over some more.

And a third implication is that we need to stimulate an increasing supply of new stock issues to meet the rising demand.

Perhaps the answer lies in a change in our laws to encourage corporations to raise money by selling stocks to new owners instead of by selling bonds to new creditors.

The stock market is now close enough to being the financial heart of our land to snare any objective observer, and the trend toward wider and larger stock ownership among average citizens is obvious.

Surely, this is the time for us to think about what we are developing here—to make sure that this stock market revolution enhances rather than endangers capitalism in America.

Oshkosh Man Drowns In Lake Butte des Morts

Lawrence Dumke, 29, Fell From Boat; Neenah Police Aid in Dragging

Oshkosh — Dragging operations were continuing today for a 29-year old Oshkosh man who apparently drowned early this morning in Lake Butte des Morts, when he fell overboard from an 18-foot outboard motor boat between Shangri-La and Plummer's point, 11 miles west of the Butte des Morts bridge.

The victim is Lawrence Dumke, 506 Boyd street, Oshkosh, a passenger in a boat owned by Ralph Doemel, 532 Oak street, Oshkosh, which was returning to Oshkosh.

Oshkosh police received a call at 1:12 a.m. from Harley Fritz, 402A Northwestern avenue, Oshkosh, another passenger, who said he and Byron King, a third passenger, threw a preserver-type cushion to Dumke but he failed to grasp it.

Fritz tied the rope around himself and made several attempts to locate the man and he and King tied a white boat bumper to the anchor and left it to mark the spot before coming to Oshkosh for assistance.

Cushion Found
The Oshkosh police boat found the cushion near Shangri-La point at 4:30 a.m. and the marker was located at 5:07 a.m., about 500 feet off shore between Shangri-La and Plummer's point.

A half dozen boats, including the Neenah police boat, were assisting in dragging operations. The Neenah police boat went out at 7:32 this morning with Chief Irving Stilt, Charles Harding, William Richey and Al Monette aboard.

A group of Oshkosh skindivers, Dick Propson, Lee Williams, Bob Dorschner and George Mingus, also are assisting in the attempts to locate the body.

He will be enrolling for his second year of study at the Menasha extension center of the University of Wisconsin.

Eleven Small Trees Near the Menasha swimming pool were broken off in vandalism overnight Monday. Park? Supt. Harry Kargus, left, and Walter elinski, park department employee, examine one of the ruined trees.

Vandals Snap Off 11 Trees at Menasha Pool

Park Supt. Kargus Estimates Value of Birch, Ash at $500

Menasha — Eleven small pool building, and the others trees, planted in 1957 at the Menasha swimming pool, were snapped off by vandals. The trees were 8 to 10 feet high and were planted in the divider between the pool and the parking area.

The trees were 8 to 10 feet high and were planted in the divider between the pool and the parking area. The trees were 8 to 10 feet high and were planted in the divider between the pool and the parking area.

Mayor R. G. DuCharme, Kargus placed the high cost on the trees because they would sell for about $40 each as nursery stock in their current sizes. Labor to plant and care for them also would be added to the cost.

Kargus said he plans to replant trees in the same places next year. The new trees, he said, will have to be about the same sizes to balance the appearance near the pool.

Insurance carried by the city does not cover damage to its park trees, Mayor DuCharme said.

The vandalism prompted Kargus and Clark to consider suggesting an exterior lighting system on the ground during closed hours to the park board. Presently, the area is only lighted by distant street lights.

Also reported today by Kargus was removal of two letters in the pool sign mounted on the brick wall. It now reads "Menash isconsin," the "a" and "W" being pulled off and thrown to the ground.

Kargus plans to mount all the letters in the sign flush with the wall so they cannot be pulled off.

Merrill Informs Contractors Rules To be Enforced

Menasha — All master plumbers and plumbing contractors working on Menasha jobs were reminded Monday of provisions of the city's plumbing code by Allen E. Merrill, city building, heating and plumbing supervisor.

In a letter to contractors and plumbers, Merrill cited violations of city and state codes after two weeks of inspecting plumbing installations.

Most common practices which Merrill stated are in violation are improper or lacking ventilation; water piping too small in size; and hot water heaters installed without pressure relief valves.

Plumbing permits, he reminded, must be taken out on all jobs totaling more than $50, and all jobs covered by permits must be inspected by a 24-hour notice must be given by plumbers before covering piping, to allow final inspection.

No Loss in Fire At Sewage Plant; Garbage Aflame

Menasha — Garbage being lifted into an incinerator hopper ignited about 12:20 p.m. Monday at the Neenah-Menasha sewage disposal plant, with no damage resulting.

Arnold Sorensen, plant superintendent, said the garbage burst into flame when fire traveled up the loading chute above one furnace. The crane operator held the flaming load in the clam bucket. It was extinguished on the top level of the crane tower.

Sorensen termed the fire a break occurrence. The loading chutes are designed to prevent fire from traveling up through them. Plant operations were interrupted Monday afternoon while cleanup work was done.

Home Agent Lists Ways Of Freezing Strawberries, Recipe for Uncooked Jam

Oshkosh — Freezing methods and a recipe for uncooked jam have been listed by Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent as ways to preserve strawberries for future use.

A cup of fresh strawberries gives about the same amount of vitamin C as a six ounce glass of orange juice. A cup of strawberries gives only 55 calories, which means it is an ideal fruit for weight watchers.

Strawberries will have better flavor and color if sweetened before freezing. Berries mixed with dry sugar hold the best flavor, while those frozen in a sugar syrup hold their shape and texture better.

Choose firm, ripe, red berries with a slightly tart flavor. Sort berries, wash them in cold water, drain well and remove hulls.

For a syrup pack, put the berries into containers and cover with cold 50 per cent syrup leaving head space. To make the syrup, use four and three-fourths cups sugar and four cups water to yield six and one-half cups syrup. Dissolve sugar in cold or hot water, but cool syrup before using.

For a sugar pack, add three-fourths cup sugar to one quart strawberries and mix thoroughly. Put into containers, leaving head space. Seal and freeze. For better color, cover with water containing one teaspoon ascorbic acid to each quart of water.

The recipe for uncooked strawberry jam calls for one and one-half to two quarts of fully ripe strawberries, five cups sugar to three cups of crushed fruit, one package of powdered pectin and one cup water.

Sort and wash the berries, remove caps and stems, crush the fruit and add sugar. Let the sugar stand on the fruit for at least 20 minutes. It is better if you put it in layer by layer and stir occasionally.

Dissolve one package of powdered pectin in one cup of water and boil one minute. Add the pectin solution to the sugared berries and stir for two minutes. Ladle into jelly glasses and let stand a day or until fruit is jellied. Seal with hot paraffin, cover with a lid and store.

The color and flavor of the jam will be just like fresh fruit. If it seems too firm when you open the jam to serve it, just stir to soften. The berries may tend to separate after long standing. Again, just stir to blend.

Museum Landscaping Awaits Completion of Driveway Project

Neenah — Beautifying of the grounds for the John Nelson Bergstrom Art Center and Museum will be undertaken by the museum foundation after the driveway has been blacktopped. Mayor Chester S. Bell, a member of the foundation board, explained today.

He said complaints had been received about the appearance of the front lawn but that it was necessary to have the driveway resurfaced before the lawn can be fixed. Otherwise, the equipment for resurfacing will damage any previous lawn improvement.

The foundation plans to have the front area landscaped and the lawn seeded as soon as it is possible, he stated.

Patterson Lashes Sparmates In Vicious, 2-Round Drill

Floyd Hopes To Prove He's 'Good' Champ

Chatham, N. J. — Floyd Patterson may prove his right to greatness or the right to be called "a good champion" Thursday night.

That's the avowed aim of the heavyweight champion and it may spell a lot of trouble for Ingemar Johansson when the two meet in their title bout at Yankee stadium. "He's like a restless panther," said Patterson's trainer, Dan Florio, after the champion finished his boxing drills with a vicious 2-round workout Monday.

Getting Meaner

"I've never seen him so determined before," said Florio, who has been with Patterson ever since he turned pro after winning the Olympic 165-pound title. "He's on edge and he's getting meaner every day."

"He's growling. Everything I do seems to be wrong with him. I just hope he stays that way. As far as his sharpness goes, right now he's 100 percent better than he was for Brian London."

Patterson stopped London in 12 rounds in Indianapolis May 1.

The 34-year-old champion left no doubt that he hoped to prove beyond a shadow of doubt that he rates being recognized with at least "good heavyweight champion."

"I'd say I'm more determined and eager for this fight than for any fight since I won the title by knocking out Archie Moore," said Patterson.

It was very obvious from Patterson's final workout that he has every intention of proving something Thursday.

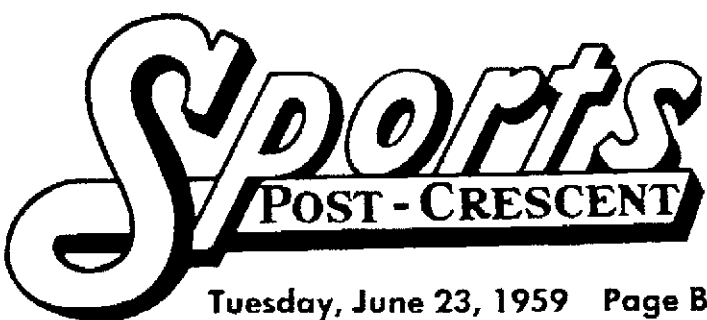

Lashes Sparmates
Against Bill Tate, a heavy middleweight from Chicago, and Lou Jones, a 195-pounder from Rockford, Ill., Patterson had to be restrained by Florio.

Florio kept yelling "whoa," and "ease up" as Patterson lashed his sparmates with blurring - fast combinations to head and body, flashing left hooks, and leaping right hands to the head.

Patterson will wind up his training with roadwork and loosening up exercises today and roadwork Wednesday. Then he will head for New York to rest until Thursday's 11 a.m. weigh-in.

Johansson completed his running Thursday and his boxing Saturday. He was shooting Monday morning and then disappeared from the scene in the afternoon to avoid further interviews.

This is the rest period which Ingemar says "brings the strength flowing into my body day by day."

Packers Sign Miller, Guard Lou Palatella

Lombardi Begins Classroom Work With Quarterbacks

By ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay—Two more veterans — one with no league game experience—have joined the Packers fold for '59. This week, he's working with Coach Vince Lombardi announced today.

They are Lou Palatella, the offensive guard who was obtained from the 49ers for an undisclosed draft choice, and Earl Wayne Miller, the Packers' twelfth draft pick in '57 who suffered a knee lock late in the training season last fall.

Played 4 Seasons
Palatella, 25, played four seasons with San Francisco. The tight-type football player, Palatella stands 6-2 and weighs 230 pounds. He is expected to bolster and/or provide competition among the club's offensive guards.

Miller looked good as a defensive cornerback in training camp last year and was awarded a berth on the club's injured reserve list for the '58 season after suffering the injury. Lombardi has him listed as a corner backer this season.

Miller, who is 6 - 2 and weighs 200 pounds, played end at Baylor. He made the All-Southwest conference and received All - American honorable mention.

Lombardi has announced the signing of 39 players thus far.

Lombardi is getting three straight weeks of football school. Last week, he handled the offensive football phase of the Minnesota clinic at Bimidi. This week, he's working with the Packers' quarterbacks. Next week, he goes before the blackboard at the Great Glacier, Mont., clinic along with Woody Hayes, George Mikan and Adolph Rupp.

The Packers' five quarterbacks—Bart Starr, Babe Parilli, Lamar McLean, Joe Francis and Bob Webb—are here for a week of classroom work along with Boyd Dowler, the freshman end who will miss the early part of the training season due to the All - Star game.

'A Big Boy'
Working for the first time with the Packers, Lombardi said he was "impressed by the intelligence of the group." He noted that Dowler is "quite a big boy" and "that Starr is well built."

The players worked with the entire staff — Phil Bengtson, Bill Austin, "Red" Cochran, Norb Hecker and Lombardi. They covered formations, terminology, passing game, cadence and some defenses.

"We intend to go through our entire offensive attack and acquaint them with our change-up system," Lombardi said. The "change-up" is a change in signals on the line of scrimmage.

Montreal — Tommy Netherscott, 134½, Port Chester, N. Y., outpointed Jean Duhaime, 138, Montreal, 8.

Valley Fair Meets Manty Wednesday
The Appleton Valley Fair baseball team will meet Manitowish at Goodland field at 8 p.m. Wednesday in a Fox River Valley league game.

Foxes Gain Split Behind Bruckbauer

Vila's Bases-Full Triple Caps Rally Giving Bonus Pitcher 8-5 Victory in League Debut

By JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The Washington Senators Monday night received their first dividend on a $30,000 investment in bonus pitcher Fred Bruckbauer.

The 21-year-old University of Minnesota product braked the latest skid of the Senators' Class B farm club — the pitching-poor Fox Cities Foxes.

Rallying behind the debuting Bruckbauer, the Foxes spilled Lincoln, 8-5, in the nightcap of a Goodland field doubleheader to gain a 50-50 split and to halt their losing streak at five straight. The Chiefs bombed the Foxes, 11-3, in the 9-inning opener.

Though Bruckbauer had to only seven innings to gain his nightcap win and was reached for nine hits in the process, his performance was about as good as a shutout, morale-wise. For, it was the first time in six games on the current home stand that a Fox Cities pitcher went the scheduled distance.

Tonight, the Foxes make their final home appearance until Saturday as they seek to square their season's series with Lincoln at six wins apiece. Ron "Perfect Game" Bloodworth will toe the rubber for the Chiefs, while Bert Guenther or "Willie" Jones will likely hurl for the Foxes.

Turning out to watch the 5-hour, 15-minute baseball show were 972 paying customers and 154 Knott-hole gang members and Cub Scouts—an exceptionally good Monday crowd in view of the Foxes' frustrations on the current home stand. Many of the fans left after the Chiefs had slamed 13 hits off five Foxes pitchers and winner Dick Kimball had stranded 14 runners in the opener.

But several hundred enthusiastic rooters were still around at 12.15 a.m. to see "Zorro" Versailles throw out

Don Gordon to ring down the curtain.

Knuckleball Expert Beats Pirates in 7-Inning Stint

San Francisco — If knuckleballer Eddie Fisher continues to pitch as he did in his major league debut, much of the San Francisco Giants pitching woes may disappear. Eddie, no kin of the singer, went seven innings Monday in the Giants 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh. He gave up only three hits, didn't walk anyone until the seventh inning, retired 17 in a row from Dick Groat's one out first inning single to Groat's seventh inning leadoff single.

The second place Giants trimmed the Braves' lead to a single game.

Throws Knuckleball
The University of Oklahoma graduate throws a knuckleball. Jim Hegan, an 18-year major league veteran, catches it. He's caught three no-hitters in his day, plus knuckleballers like Roger Wolff, Early Wynn and Hoyt Wilhelm.

Hegan's verdict: Fisher, 22, is no Wilhelm or Wolff, but his knuckleballer is better than Wynn's. And Fisher is much faster than Hegan expected him to be.

Only one ball got by Hegan. But plate umpire Ed Sudol took five fouls on the arms and body. Frustrated a bit, Sudol said all three singles came off Manager Bill Rigney, what with starter Jack Sanford still ailing from a bruised hand, is hurting for pitchers. Fisher, 10-4 at Phoenix in the Pacific Coast league club, was brought up to fill the gap.

Yankees Sign 'Hub' King for Over $50,000

Fondy Pitcher Will Play in Class D League

New York — "Hub" King, an accurate 17-year-old strikeout artist from Fond du Lac, Monday received a bonus in "excess of $50,000" for signing with the New York Yankees.

Scout Maguola signed King after he worked out in Yankee stadium over the week-end. King, a 1959 high school graduate, will begin his professional career with Kearney in the Class D Nebraska State League.

In 289 1-3 innings, King fanned 548 batters and walked only 65. He gave up 34 runs and 92 hits. During his past two seasons in high school and American Legion ball, he compiled a 33-2 record that included 17 shutouts, six no-hitters and five 1-hitters.

Koufax Fans 16 for Night Game Record

Pitches Los Angeles to 6-2 Triumph Over Philadelphia

Los Angeles —P— When fax wound up with 16 strikeouts start yelling for fielders outs, a record for a major on their own team to drop fly league night game, as the balls, it's a pretty solid sign Dodgers defeated Philadelphia, 6-2.

The husky, handsome south-paw said later:

"I'd like to have had it. But I knew I didn't have much of a chance when I didn't get that first man (Joe Koppe) in the ninth."

"Anyway, I'm just glad to win a ball game after such a lousy start this year. I'm glad to be here instead of pitching for Spokane or somebody."

Ashburn Finishes Out
After eight innings, Koufax was just one strikeout away from the record of 17 established by Dean in a game he pitched for St. Louis against Chicago in 1933.

"I knew I was pretty close when I went out to start the inning," Koufax said. "I heard somebody in the stands yell something about it."

"But I figured I had to get Koppe. (Richie) Ashburn was the next man and I knew I couldn't get him. I may have

New Catcher To Join Foxes

A new catcher, Roger Bean, will join the Fox Cities Foxes shortly.

Bean has been optioned to the Foxes by Miami of the International league. Miami has a partial working agreement with the Washington Senators.

Relief pitcher Al Castellanos has been optioned by the Foxes to Missoula of the Class C Pioneer league. Castellanos had a record of 0-5 for the Foxes.

Pitcher Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers was smiling Monday night after striking out 16 Philadelphia Phillie batters to set a new major league night game strikeout record. Sandy came within one of tying Dizzy Dean's National league strikeout record. The Dodgers won, 6-2.

Sunday's Results:

Black Creek 17, Landstad 9.

With a 4-run outburst in the third inning, Bonduel broke the ice and coasted on to a 10-1 triumph over Hofa Park at Hofa Park Sunday in the Dairyland League.

Marohl twirled a 1-hitter for the winners, registering 16 strikeouts and giving up only four walks. Krahn was the loser.

Hofa Park scored its only run in the seventh on an error, a walk and a throwing error. Extra base hits were Senzig's double in the fifth which drove in one run and a home run for the winners by Wadtke with one on in the seventh. Wadtke also paced both teams with 4-for-5.

In other Dairyland league action, Black Creek topped Landstad, 17-9, with a wild and wooly ninth inning. Trailing 9-6, Black Creek tied the score on a home run with two aboard by McGinnis and went on to add eight more. Winner was Jim Ludwig. Harold Ritcher was the loser.

Nichols edged Navarino, 3-1, by scoring three runs in the first inning. Joe Buss gave up seven hits and added a double for the winning effort. Jerry Herb was the loser.

struck him out once in five years—and I'll probably do the same in the next five."

Koufax came awfully close. He got two strikes on Koppe—but Joe finally got his bat on the ball and fled to Don Demeter in center field. Then Koufax got two strikes on the seldom-fanned Ashburn—and Richie also fled to Demeter.

Some spectators were yelling for Demeter to drop the two flies, so Koufax would get an extra shot at the record.

The game ended when Dave Philley singled and was thrown out trying to stretch the hit into a double.

Philadelphia's starter right-hander Jim Owens, fanned seven Dodgers in seven innings. And Humberto Robinson, who relieved Owens, got one more. The total of 24 equalled a big league record for strikeouts by both teams in one game. The record was set May 19, 1956, by Cleveland and Washington.

Has 64 Strikeouts

Koufax, now 4-1, has gone 60 innings this season and fanned 64 while walking 42. He gave up three walks Monday night.

The previous record for a major league night game was 14 strikeouts. Co-holders of the mark were Johnny Vander Meer, Sam Jones, Bob Feller and Bob Turley. Feller holds the major league strikeout record of 18—set against Detroit in 1938.

A crowd of only 10,290—smallest of the season at the Coliseum—watched.

Although setting the 1-game strikeout high in the majors this season, Koufax gave up 10 hits, one Harry Anderson's eighth home run, and didn't have a working lead until the Dodgers scored three in the fifth against Owens, now 4-5. Gil Hodges, who counted a first-inning run with a sacrifice fly, singled home a pair in the fifth.

Koufax's previous 1-game high for strikeouts was 14. That came in his first complete game in the majors, a 2-hit shutout against Cincinnati in 1955.

It was the last day of May before the 23-year-old lefty gained his first 1959 victory. He put away his fourth in a row last night.

Area Golf Highlights

Werner Has No-Hitter, Ace in Same Week

Last week, Appleton's Clement "Bud" Werner pitched a no-hit softball game and score a hole-in-one on the golf course. No other Fox Cities area athlete—probably no one else in the nation—can make that statement.

Werner began his "believe it or not" parlay last Wednesday night with a no-hitter in the Classic league.

Last Saturday, he scored an ace on Appleton Muni's 160-yard eleventh hole with a 5-iron. Werner, who played in a foursome with "Bud" Giebel, Jerry Girard and Len Birling, finished the 18-hole round with an 89.

Ben Arnold fired an eagle 3 on Muni's tenth hole Saturday.

Bob Martin has bettered his own season's low at Butte des Morts. His 3-under-par 67 (33-34) bettered his own 1959 course record by one stroke. Martin also checked in with a pair of 73s last weekend.

Mike Cochrane, a University of Minnesota student and a junior member of the club, shot rounds of 72, 74 and 75 at BDM.

Other low cards at BDM were: Leo Francis, 74 and 75; Karl Baldwin, 75 and 79; Dick Garvey and Irv Ferrel, 75s; Harold Chew, 76; Warren Gillette and Dan Steinberg, Sr., 77s; Harvey Lhost, 78; and Jim Rudolf, John Maring and Bob Ferrel, 79s.

An eagle on the eighteenth hole helped Ray Doell take weekend club honors at Ridgeway with a 74.

Other low scores were: a 75, by Pat Murphy; 76s, by Russ Mergren, Otto Lieber and Monay Luka; A 78 by Pat Healy, Jr.; and 79, by Elmer Westland.

In the Saturday best-ball twosome event at the club, Jerry Llewelyn and his partner, Dal Becker, walked off with first place honors as they carded 63. Bob Hogan and Ray Turkow took second place with a 64 while Pat Murphy and Jack Fumal had a 66 for third place.

SSAC Wins, 18-7, in LL Action

Paul DeNoble, South Side Athletic club pitcher, hurled his slugging teammates to an 18-7 Eastern division victory over Appleton Coated-Fox River Knitting in Appleton Little League play Monday night. DeNoble, along with Kamine, also punched out two home runs for the winners.

Other homers were hit by Emmers and Grishaber.

The SSAC put their collective feet forward in a wild first inning, scoring seven runs for their highest single inning total. They added five more in the third and six in the fifth.

In the Western division, VFW knocked across six runs in the first two innings and coasted on to a 7-3 win over the Teamsters. The losers opened with three tallies in the top half of the first before their lead melted. Miller was the winner, giving up five walks and striking out 13. Dresang was the loser.

Pankratz and Fischer each had 3-for-3 for the VFW while Caldie paced the losers with two hits in three times at bat.

Earl Buchholz Upsets Third-Seeded Netter

Italy's Pietrangeli Bows in First Round at Wimbledon

Wimbledon, England — "I want to turn professional. In fact, I can hardly wait," said Earl Buchholz today, blunt statement as any professional player has made in years. Young Buchholz of St. Louis, Mo., whipped third-seeded Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy in the first round of the Wimbledon championships Monday. It was the turn of a youngster of 18 and a half and talks about his progress as an amateur.

Father Is Tennis Pro. But not the young American who in a two and a quarter hour match raised American sagging tennis fortunes.

"My father is a tennis professional at several St. Louis clubs and I certainly hope someday to be good enough to play professionally," said Earl.

He played almost that well in his 6-4, 3-6, 7-5, 7-5 upset victory over the Italian star. He played with a serious cramp in his left side and within less than six weeks after an operation. It was by far the top performance of open-day at the 73rd Wimbledon championship.

In two other vital matches the only former Wimbledon winners in the singles took Country club carded 72s.

Repeat Dramas to Sub For Ann Sothern Show

'Keep Talking' Cast Switches to Tuesday Nights on ABC-TV in Fall

BY JINGO

An anthology of half-hour dramas will replace "The Ann Sothern Show" for the summer, starting at 8:30 p.m. Monday, July 6, on CBS-TV. Joseph Cotton will be host for the repeat series. The first story stars Alan Ladd as a frontier sheriff.

"Keep Talking," a sometimes very good show, will be added to ABC-TV's Tuesday night lineup in September. The talk show will have the same cast it has on CBS-TV. Now, network moguls have zeroed the show to follow this impressive array: "Sugarfoot," "Wyatt Earp," "Rifleman," "Alcoa Presents" and the alternates, "Bronco" and "Philip Marlowe."

CBS-TV has announced it again will join with International Business Machines to gather election statistics for the 1960 presidential race. A joint 17-month period of intensive research and planning already is underway.

Richard Burton, Roddy McDowall, Tom Poston and Lee Remick will co-star with Maurice Evans in Shakespeare's "The Tempest" on "Hall of Fame" over NBC-TV next spring. The 90-minute color production went into rehearsal Sunday in Brooklyn, N. Y.

With the exception of its live newscasts, all segments of NBC-TV's "Today" show will be taped late the afternoon prior to each day's telecast, starting sometime in September.

Among the shows which have been renewed for another TV season: "Show of the Month," "Circle Theater," "Small World" and "Garry Moore." "Black Saddle" also will be back, but will move to the 9:30 p.m. Friday time period on ABC-TV, starting Oct. 2.

"The Lawbreakers," all about 1-time public enemies Nos. 1, will not debut on CBS-TV Sept. 22 as announced. Sometime next year, the network says now. Instead, "The Dennis O'Keefe Show," in which he plays a syndicated newspaper columnist, is earmarked for Tuesday nights starting on the September date.

Herbert Baker, award-winning TV writer and movie scenarist, will head the writing staff of Perry Como's new show when it debuts Sept. 30. He wrote last fall's Fred Astaire show and "Some of Manie's Friends," among others.

The "Richard Diamond" series wasn't renewed, so

HELP WANTED

AIRCRAFT DIVISION OF KIEKHAEFER CORPORATION

1. Some employees of Aircraft Division of Kiekhaefer Corporation are on strike since June 15, the first such incident in our 20-year history; however, a good number of production workers are on the job and the plant is in production and will continue in production.

2. We have good job openings for men and women qualified who are interested in permanent employment in an expanding industry. Our wages on the average are substantially above those for the community, the county and the state; in addition there are many fringe benefits.

3. Permanent replacements will be sought for employees not returned to work by 12 o'clock noon, Friday, June 26, 1959.

4. Law enforcement officials have guaranteed protection to employees, their property and Company property.

5. The Company's employment office is located at 449 Marion Road, Oshkosh, and is open each day Monday through Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Something New in Russian Ballet-Jazz, Abstract Art

BY A. I. GOLDBERG

Moscow —P— The Russians officially frown on western jazz and abstract art but a smattering of both appears in a new ballet at the Bolshoi theater.

It's the Negro girls' dance from the new ballet "Path of Thunder," based on Peter Abrahams' novel about race conflict in South Africa.

Strikingly beautiful girls of the Azerbaijan Art theater did the dance against a backdrop of an imaginative road in a sort of abstract design.

The choreography for the number smacked of New Orleans — though perhaps slightly up the river. The music could have been St. Louis jazz.

But the torso twisting and the sinuous swaying as the ballet worked out its pattern — weaving about with mock guitars — could have come out of any smoking Kansas City or Chicago night club.

Little Comment

The selected audience of government officials and high-ranking workers were somewhat bewildered during the 10-day Moscow run at the Bolshoi. There was only polite handclapping in contrast with the enthusiastic outbursts of applause from the westerners in the audience.

The communist party newspaper Pravda in a review of the show dismissed the dance number with the comment that it "was received with interest."

The reviewer for the government newspaper Izvestia wrote that the music revealed strains of Negro folk music but actually retained its Azerbaidzhan flavor.

The ballet is expected to have its premiere abroad late this summer when the Bolshoi company goes to Peking.

School Lunch Program Set For Fall Term

Board Turns Down Madison School Closed Day Request

James Madison Junior High school will have a voluntary hot lunch program next fall, the board of education decided Monday night.

The board turned down a request for a closed day, which would have forced all students in the school to participate in the noon-lunch program.

The board also asked for bids on kitchen equipment for the school costing approximately $4,056, including a range, tables, potato peeler, mixer and serving trays. The equipment will be charged to the school building fund.

Super of Schools John P. Mann told the board that two teachers had resigned.

Frederick A. Kaemmerer, formerly a vocal music and English teacher at Roosevelt Junior High school, will be going into business, and Donald Fictum, an elementary teacher, has accepted a principal's position elsewhere, Mann said.

Six new teachers were hired. They are Edwin M. Emmons, Edward W. Flynn, Mrs. Marian Hogan, Mrs. Sara A. Krause, Miss Viola Steeps and Mrs. Jennie Lee Wagner.

A picture by Thomas M. Detrich, artist in residence at Lawrence college, was given at Washington and Columbus to the school system and schools.

Four Appleton parents were appointed to a faculty-parent committee to study the elementary report card system.

The parents are Mrs. Richard Baker, 601 E. Grant street; Mrs. Bruce Purdy, 115 N. Green Bay street; Mrs. Julian ensure a continuing high standard.

Director of Business Affairs William R. Knuth reported that neighbors had complained to him of baseballs rolling on lawns and into flower beds. He recommended that a sign be posted prohibiting adults from playing baseball there.

Similar restrictions have been placed on playgrounds at Washington and Columbus to the school system and schools.

Director of Public Works Duszynski for several years has told the committee he fears the wall will collapse, at least in part, any time.

Monday, he said he wants it known he will not take any responsibility for an accident that might occur.

That's clear from recent council studies which show there were 77 violations for every 100 drivers in fatal traffic accidents. Many drivers violated more than one law.

The violations that occurred most often: Speeding, failure to keep right of the center line, not having right-of-way and driving under the influence of alcohol.

Other violations: Following too closely, improper passing, improper turning, failing to signal, disregarding stop signs and improper parking.

What Rambler's Success Means to Every Motorist

"Show me a Rambler owner and I'll show you a Rambler salesman"

WE Rambler owners are the most enthusiastic "car salesmen" you ever met. That's one reason why Rambler is the biggest sales success in America today.

Here's what we Rambler owners told Popular Mechanics Magazine:

Every month, Popular Mechanics surveys 1,000 new-car owners of one make of car. In the May 1959 issue they reported:

"RAMBLER OWNERS are a happy bunch... and owners of the Rambler Six are happiest of all. Not one owner of a Rambler Six rates his car 'poor'.

Best Record by any American Car

"Actually, less than one percent (0.9 percent) to be precise) of all Rambler owners give their cars a poor rating. This is the best record achieved by any American car since our Owners Report series began in 1950... usually four or five percent rate their cars 'poor.' Occasionally, as many as 10 percent."

Read these excerpts from Popular Mechanics and see what we owners like best about our Ramblers:

"We are averaging 19 miles per gallon over-all and feel that this Six will get from 23 to 25 miles on long trips."—New Mexico office manager.

"The ride is a pleasant astonishment to us all."—Ohio school supervisor.

"Body is very tight. Usually by checkup time there are rattles to be taken care of. Rambler has none."—Maine housewife.

"Gasoline and oil bills are almost half what they were "in my previous car."—N. M. secretary.

"This car was finished at the factory. The dealer didn't have to finish the job as is the case in so many other makes."—Nebraska banker.

"Can park the car in the garage without having to add onto it."—North Dakota supervisor.

"Its maneuverability in traffic has cut 10 minutes off my driving time to and from work."—Washington, D. C., scientist.

"Styling is smart and modern, but not gaudy."—Virginia mathematician.

"Ample space... actually almost as large as the so-called large cars."—Alabama engineer.

"Good legroom in front and rear."—Pennsylvania schoolbus contractor.

"Individually adjustable front seats mean I am not crowded when my wife (who is shorter than I am) drives."—Maine engineer.

"Very good roadability. Very stable on corners."—Montana salesman.

"The V-8 has good power and pick up. It will stretch out if need be."—South Carolina payroll supervisor.

"You can get in and out of it easily."—Michigan school director.

"Comparable competitive cars were $300 to $400 higher and the Rambler finish puts them in the shade."—Louisiana attorney.

Owners know that Rambler gives them basic excellence—the best built, finest quality car in America. That's why most of us tell everybody—including the folks from Popular Mechanics—how happy we are with our 1959 Ramblers. And you can bet that this "word of mouth" selling is one big reason why Rambler is the success car of the year.

Rambler outsells all but two American makes in state after state—from Maine to California.

Rambler outsells all of the five most popular foreign makes combined.

If the 1959 models of the make you're driving now have sized and priced themselves out of all reason, why don't you do like I did? See your Rambler Dealer. You'll soon be one of Rambler's best salesmen, too.
